Of Franking misuse

Smith denies charges

Michigan State Rep. Roy Smith (R-Ypsilanti) Monday denied charges that he misused his franking privileges.

The charges were made by Gary Owen, 27, Democratic candidate for state representative in the new 22nd District. Smith is seeking his fourth term in the Michigan legislature for the 22nd District.

Rep. Smith is the incumbent in the 52nd District. Owen, in making his charges, cited statistics which showed that Smith charged $2,242.51 to the State of Michigan for the first seven months of 1972 as compared with $1,526.45 for the entire year of 1971.

"This is a clear, gross abuse of the free mailing privilege of a state legislator," Owen said. He added that he does not condemn the reasonable use of the mailing privilege, as he felt that it is of utmost importance that the electors are kept informed.

"However this large increase in an election year coupled with the fact that Mr. Smith has mailed to many areas in the new 22nd District which he does not presently represent make it clear to me that he is using his mailing privilege for political gain," Owen said.

Rep. Smith said Owen's charges are phoney. He said that the only mailing he has ever made at public expense to parts of the new 22nd District was an explanation of the new district boundaries, some months ago.

Smith said he had the approval of the speaker of the house of representatives in Lansing.

He added, "I never have abuse mail franking privileges and I never will." Smith said a quick way for residents receiving his mail to determine if public expense or party expense is to check the mailing permit number.

He said that permit number 421 is issued to the Washtenaw County Republican Party and mailed from Ann Arbor.

As to his increase in mailing expense in the first seven months of this year, Smith said he has put a lot of information on issues to be decided at the Nov. 7 general election, especially the tax reform issue, which is his "pet issue."

Council studies jobs

The Romulus City Council has under study job classifications and proposed changes in job descriptions presented by Local 214 of the Teamsters, State, County and Municipal Workers.

The local union made its presentation at a recent executive session of the city council held at Romulus Municipal Building.

The session between the council members and union leaders lasted about two hours. It was called by the council after repeated attempts by the union to meet with the council to negotiate the job classifications and job description changes.

The three-year employment contract which covers 40 to 50 city employees, was approved by the council in April.

The new contract provided wage increases and some fringe benefits. The employees immediately received a 5.5 per cent pay boost in line with U.S. pay board guidelines.

Additional pay increases of 7.5 per cent the first year, and six per cent for the second and third year were not approved by the Internal Revenue Service, local enforcement agent for the federal pay board.

An appeal was taken to Washington officials and a decision is yet to be made.

Job classifications and changes in job descriptions were the only portion of the new contract left to be negotiated.

Romulus sets voter record

A new record in voter registrations has been set, according to Romulus deputy city clerk, Mrs. Deanna Lovenduski.

The city's vote registry now stands at 10,611 an increase of 786 persons since the August primary election. The deadline to register in the November general election was Oct. 6.

The city clerk's office will continue to register voters but the registration will not be applicable to the up-coming November election.

The vote registrations by precincts are as follows: Precinct 1, 918; Precinct 2, 888; Precinct 3, 1,199; Precinct 4, 644; Precinct 5, 494; Precinct 6, 890. Precinct 7, 1,160; Precinct 8, 808; Precinct 9, 1,311; Precinct 10, 1,235; Precinct 11, 324, and Precinct 12, 740.

Council will get court site report

By HENRY CANTIN

This Romulus City Council this week will receive a legal opinion and engineering report on the feasibility of the proposed building for the 34th District Court.

The city council requested City Attorney John E. Young for a legal opinion on the proposed court project and legal clarification on the method of purchasing the land site for the building.

Wade, Trim & Associates of Taylor, consulting engineers for the city, were asked to submit a report on the feasibility of the proposed site for the new court facility and availability of water and sewer facilities.

Recently the Romulus Building Authority, charged with the responsibility of constructing Romulus' Municipal Complex and Civic Center, asked city council for its approval to initiate preliminary financial procedures for the construction of the new court structure.

The council took the authority's request under advisement pending legal and engineering reports which are expected to be handed council this week.

An executive session of the council with members of the building authority was recently held at the city hall.

A detailed discussion on the proposed court facility financing plans was held at the session.

The proposed financing and construction site for the new court has received a favorable report from the city attorney and city engineer, according to reports. Both say the project is "feasible".

The new court proposal was brought to the council's attention a year ago by 34th District Court Judge James B. Stone, who said the present court facilities, 30240 Eureka Rd., Romulus, are inadequate.

The court is housed in the former Hale Elementary School.

He also said the ever-increasing work of the court warrants larger quarters to properly conduct the business of the court.

The 34th District Court's jurisdiction embraces the communities of Belleville and Romulus and the townships of Huron, Sumpter and Van Buren.

A series of meetings with council and city administration have been held, but as yet no action has been taken. The council wants every possible angle and method explored before rendering its final decision, according to councilmen.

Leo M. Kalota, secretary of the building authority, and Harold Kubisky, chairman, told council that a bond issue in the amount of $640,000 would be required to finance the balance of the total construction program.

The total cost of the new court building would be reduced by $250,000 which is the sum that remains from the financing of the complex's two initial structures — Romulus Municipal Building and Romulus Public Library.

The new court facility, if finally approved by the council, would be constructed on a portion of a city-owned land parcel, located south of the present Municipal Building.

Romulus honors 3 city employees

The Romulus City Council last night honored three former city employees who perished in the line of duty in May.

In a pre-council ceremony, Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael and Council President Jimmie Raspberry, presented the city with a plaque honoring the three employees, who were members of the Department of Public Works (DPW) at the time of their deaths.

The plaque will hang in the city's Municipal Building, 11111 S. Wayne Rd. Romulus. Copies of the plaque will be presented to the families of the three employees.

The three DPW workers — including a foreman — perished in a "freak" mishap on May 19.

The men, according to the Wayne County sheriff's detectives, drowned in 30 feet of water in a sewer in the Columbus-Beverly Street area in south Romulus.

The Romulus men killed "in line of duty" were: Felix Gliniski, 60, of 610 Cogswell Rd., William Hardict, 45, of 5878 Biddle St., and Charles Claxton, 22, of 29197 Smith Rd.

A fourth employee — Houston Glaster, 35, of 29014 Powers St., Westland — also was working at the location but was not injured.

The accident occurred directly behind 34020 Beverly Rd. at a pumping station along the sewer line to the Detroit Sewage Treatment plant.

Plans for DPW facility to be studied by city

Architectural and remodeling specifications for the interior of Romulus' new Department of Public Works (DPW) headquarters, and a revamping of the offices in the current DPW facility are nearing completion for presentation to the city council for study and approval.

At a recent session, the city council approved a request made by Charles Hellman of Wade, Trim & Associates, Inc. of Taylor, city engineers, for the retention of an architect to draw up plans, designs and specifications.

Hellman is chairman of a five-member committee appointed by the council to supervise the drawing up of plans for occupying the new DPW structure and for the revamping of current DPW facility offices.

Henry Kent of the Taylor firm has been selected and is drafting the architectural plans for offices and other divisions of DPW that will be moved into the new building.

The new DPW headquarters will be located in an industrial building facility constructed by Schostak Bros. and Co., Inc., Realtors of Southfield. The new building is located on a 12-acre land parcel at 34100 Goddard Rd.

The City of Romulus spent $472,000 for the purchase of the new industrial building. It will replace present DPW offices, located at 36515 Bibbins St., Romulus.

Hellman said the new structure is expected to be ready after the first of the new year.

Planning commission to hold all hearings

All public hearings on petitions to amend the master zoning ordinance of the City of Romulus will be conducted by the city's planning commission according to the Romulus City Council.

All requests to amend the city's zoning regulations have been and are initially referred to the planning commission for the commission's recommendations and for public hearings.

By the council's action, the commission is formally charged with conducting all public hearings on rezoning requests with testimony submitted to the council for its consideration and approval.

The council's action also is in compliance with state laws requiring an official designation of the agency which will hold the hearings on rezoning matters.

The council still has the authority to hold a second public hearing if the council sees fit to do so, but under the new procedures the council may adopt the commission's recommended amendments without holding a second public hearing.

Romulus school board approves appointment

The Romulus Board of Education approved the appointment of Al Sheffield to Vocational Education at Romulus Senior High School at a recent board meeting.

The school board directed Sheffield, a high school teacher, to continue with his present teaching assignment in auto shop for 60 days until job classification can be finalized. Sheffield lives at 34919 Julie Dr., Romulus.

An employment contract for the 1972-73 school year was approved for Sam Olive as school diagnostician.

Mrs. Gloria Chandler representing the Cory Elementary School's PTA requested that all PTA's in the school district be furnished copies of the printed master agreement between the board of education and the Romulus Education Association (REA). The board agreed.

Mrs. Chandler also asked the board about the purchase of equipment for the teacher's lounge which would include a sink, refrigerator and oven at a cost of $400 with the PTA sharing the cost with the board of education.

The board directing Assistant School Supt. Thomas Janack, to contact the school principal and determine need and installation cost.

School board, HEA to discuss contract

Negotiating teams representing the Huron Board of Education and the Huron Education Association (HEA) are scheduled to meet today at the Hamman Road Elementary School in New Boston for further discussions on a proposed teacher employment contract for the 1972-73 school year.

The school district's teaching staff are working without a contract since the opening day of school.

School Supt. Byron K. Anteliff said he has been informed by the school board's chief negotiator that "progress" is being made, but negotiators are still some distance apart on some major areas of the proposed contract.

The association has presented a package calling for increases in teacher salaries, benefits and program expansions.

Causing needless injury

School bus is unsafe

The way the typical school bus is built can make it a deathtrap or expose child passengers to needless injuries, according to the Journal of Insurance. It's a problem communities should be looking into now that classes are under way once again.

An article entitled "The Other Busing Issue: Safety" in the current issue of the magazine, published by the Insurance Information Institute, states:

"On the basis of miles driven, school buses have a low accident rate. But the accidents that do happen reveal many unnecessary hazards arising from mechanical failures, flimsy construction and poor design."

The article cites studies of fatal school bus accidents, carried out by the National Transportation Safety Board (NTSB), which brought to light what the board described as "inadequate structural assembly" of school bus bodies.

In one overturn accident which killed four students and injured more than 30, the NTSB reported "a predominant source of injury was the laceration of child passengers by exposed edges of the bus interior sheet metal — raised into shapes similar to the edge of a shovel or a cookie cutter."

In another accident, a school bus sideswiped a tree, which penetrated the passenger compartment. One student was killed and another seriously injured.

The NTSB report said: "the tree penetrated more deeply into the rear section of the bus than would have occurred if the fasteners had been sufficiently complete. The tree, because of the weakness of the fastening, merely disassembled and crushed the rear most section of the bus."

The NTSB blamed "the very wide spacing of the screws which were used to fasten the edges of the sheet metal."

Other serious problems related to flimsiness of construction are identified by the article. Among them are the tendency of seats to rip loose from school bus floors, and exposure of children to facial damage caused by impact with unpadded metal bars on the seats ahead.

The article refers to a survey of members by the American Society of Oral Surgeons showing that annually more than 1,300 children require oral surgery because of facial injuries sustained in impacts with school bus seats.

Still other school bus safety problems involve mechanical failure, particularly brakes and driver error.

Seat belts in school buses are not generally recommended as a solution to safety problems, says the article, because the spacing and configuration of school bus seats are such that lap restraints would only intensify, rather than prevent, impact of children's heads and faces against seat backs.

Solutions are possible, according to the journal, through complete redesigning of the bus with attention to such features as structural integrity and the use of firmly anchored, high-backed, padded seats.

Actually, standards for a safe bus exist under an interstate compact, the Vehicle Equipment Safety Commission (VESC), and at least one manufacturer has built a prototype meeting VESC standards.

Studded tires still are legal

This winter may be the last season that studded snow tires are legal in Michigan, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

Legislative action permits tires with metal studs to be used on Michigan roads from Nov. 1 through April 30, 1973.

Alarmed over evidence that studded tires cause serious highway pavement damage, both the Michigan State Senate and House of Representatives have passed measures banning studs.

A joint conference committee is expected to meet after Nov. 27 to iron out differences between the two bills.

The House ban against studded tires would exclude the Upper Peninsula while the Senate version is a statewide restriction.

Currently, studded tires are permitted in 45 states and the District of Columbia, Minnesota, Louisiana, Mississippi, Utah and Hawaii ban their use.

Should Michigan ban studs, owners of studded tires can have the metal cleats removed and continue driving legally. Tire dealers say that studs can be removed at about the same cost as inserting them, about $12 for four tires.

Family finder

Judy looks for parents

EDITOR'S NOTE: As a service to area readers, the Belleville Enterprise and the Romulus Roman have initiated a new series of articles on adoptable children. The series, which will run on the fourth Wednesday of each month, is designed to find homes for children who are considered "hard-to-place" because of mental or physical handicaps, race or age. The Enterprise-Roman and the Michigan Department of Social Services this week would like to introduce Judy to area readers.

Judy is a 14-year-old black girl who is very anxious to find parents. Although she has been in the same foster home for 10 years, she is not overly attached to her foster family because she needs to belong to someone.

The attractive ninth grader has a medium brown complexion, is well mannered and gets along well with her peers. She is quiet and doesn't express her feelings easily, according to her social worker.

Judy receives average grades in school, but excels in art and sewing. She thinks algebra is okay. Judy likes to create by crocheting, knitting, sewing and painting and she likes to swim.

Judy would like to be the only child in a family because she needs lots of love and attention and has lots of love to return. She thinks a two-parent family is important but would settle for a single parent of her own.

Judy has been waiting for a family for a long time. If you would like to adopt her, write to Mrs. Naomi Peters, Home-finder, Michigan Department of Social Services, 640 Temple St., Detroit 48201 or call 222-9240.

Jaycees sponsor benefit dance

The Romulus Jaycees are sponsoring a benefit dance in the honor of the late Eugene Gribble to assist his family with medical bills. Eugene Gribble was Santa Claus to area children.

Santa Gribble, as he was known to thousands of children in Romulus and Belleville, was stricken with cancer several years ago and died Aug. 10 at the age of 53.

The Romulus Jaycees are trying to return some of the kindness and concern for people that the late Mr. Gribble displayed in the many years he served the community.

Event chairman Ray Wood said the benefit dance will be held from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m. Nov. 18 at the Romulus Progressive Hall, 11580 Ozga Rd., Romulus.

The ticket price is $8 per couple with all profits going toward defraying the medical expenses. The Romulus Progressive Club is donating the rental of the hall.

Ticket holders will be entertained by a band, the "R.F.D. Express." Free beer and drink mixes will be supplied. Jaycees are selling tickets.

Telephone orders are being taken at 941-0289. Jaycee President Lee Silvey urges area people to attend the dance or donate money to the Gribble family.

Commissioners endorse Daylight Savings Time

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners has endorsed the Daylight Savings Time proposal that will appear on the Nov. 7 election ballot.

At a recent board meeting, the commissioners voted 18-0 in support of ballot Proposition A and urged Wayne County voters to approve the proposal. The resolution indicates that 47 states have already "exercised the option of having Daylight Saving Time," which runs from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October.

During this period Daylight Savings Time provides an additional hour of daylight which offers numerous advantages, according to the commissioners.

Advantages cited in the resolution include conservation of electricity, reduced crime, added traffic safety, increased business activity and more recreation time. It also points out that airline and broadcast schedules will coincide with those in other states in the Eastern Time Zone, if the proposal is adopted.

Abortion issue splits Lutherans

By RANDY GARTON

Perhaps better than any other religious institution in Michigan, the Lutheran church reflects the deep schism dividing the pro-and anti-abortion forces in the state.

The four synods of the church are evenly split, with the Lutheran Church in America (LCA) and the American Lutheran Church (ALC) on record as favoring abortion reform and the Missouri and Wisconsin Synods opposed.

Although the synods often divide along these very same lines on other issues, the philosophical and religious differences in the abortion question parallel opinions in other denominations.

But by no means is the split clean.

Nationwide the largest Lutheran church, the LCA favors abortion reform. But a talk with Rev. Dean Beckwith, pastor of Good Hope Evangelical Lutheran Church in Garden City, reveals the deep inner conflict that is common to both sides of the abortion issue.

"Intellectually, I'm in favor of it," Rev. Beckwith said. "But my emotions are mixed since I was an adopted child."

Despite his personal convictions, Beckwith said abortion should be taken out of the courts. It is, he added, a personal matter between the woman and her doctor.

A Wayne pastor believes there is no room for a personal decision concerning abortion among Christians.

"I can't come up with anything in the Scriptures that says we have this right (of abortion)," said Rev. Alan Braun, pastor of St. Michael's Lutheran Church, a Missouri Synod.

Rev. Braun said there are verses in the Bible that confirm the humanity of the fetus.

For example, the first chapter of Jeremiah, verse 5 reads: "The Lord says: 'Before I formed you in the womb, I knew you, and 'Before you were born, I consecrated you,' according to the pastor.

Pastor Braun said the Missouri Synod leadership issued guidelines generally in opposition to abortion, but did not make an official ruling.

"It is my responsibility to lead them (the congregation) on the basis of Scripture," he added. Rev. Braun said unwanted pregnancies create many social problems, but added abortion is not the answer.

"I don't think you solve a social problem by snuffing out human lives," Rev. Braun said.

But the abortion advocates say some belief should not be imposed upon people with different opinions. Rev. James D. Beckwith, pastor of the Prince of Peace Lutheran Church, in Wayne, agrees. Prince of Peace is the ALC Synod.

Pageant date set

The Romulus Jaycees are working this week to organize the Junior Miss Pageant. Leonard J. Folmar, Romulus city clerk, who will again head the Junior Miss Pageant, said 12 girls have filed entry forms for the Nov. 18 pageant. Both Huron Senior High and Romulus Senior High School senior girls are eligible.

Once again this year, the event will take place at the Romulus Senior High School, 9650 S. Wayne Rd., Romulus, with the girls appearing in talent and interview judging.

The contest is not a beauty contest, but one which attempts to judge the entrants on their qualities as a human being and future citizen. The winner is awarded a one-year scholarship to Eastern Michigan University.

The Jaycees, who were happy with the audience turnout for last year's pageant, hope that residents will once again plan to attend and support the girls in their efforts.

Tickets can be purchased at the door or from any Jaycee, or by contacting the clerk's office at the Romulus Municipal Building, 1111 S. Wayne Rd.

Interested senior high school girls may enter by contacting the Romulus Jaycees at 941-0289 or 721-2256.

MERE CHRISTIANITY

Some of the sectarians in the Corinthian church claimed, "We belong to Paul." But they had no right to belong to Paul since (1) Paul had not been crucified for them, and (2) they had not been baptized into the name of Paul. See 1 Cor. 1:12-13.

Later Paul expressed himself: "We belong to Christ" (2 Cor. 10:7). So with true Christians today. We are of Christ — and no one else.

Neither Luther nor Calvin nor Wesley nor Campbell was crucified for us. Nor were we baptized into the name of either of these. Therefore we are not Lutherans or Calvinists or Wesleyans or Campbellites.

We are of Christ. Jesus was crucified to purchase us, and we have acknowledged his Lordship over us by surrendering to him, through faith, in the act of baptism. Therefore we are of Christ. We are just Christians. Please let us share our faith with you.

MERE CHRISTIANITY is presented by the Christians who meet at 9426 S. Wayne Road in Romulus. Watch for it each week. Sunday services are at 10 (Bible study) and 11 A.M. and 6 P.M. Write for free BIBLE CORRESPONDENCE COURSE to Church of Christ, Box 155, Romulus, Michigan, 48174.

Biblical quotations to back abortion reform, but said "the whole tenor of the New Testament" lauds the worth of the individual.

"Jesus, in his ministry often spoke of the worth of the individual and that's what we're trying to say," he added.

The Wisconsin Synod, the smallest and most conservative Lutheran sect, is against abortion.

We are opposed to abortion in general, except where the life of the mother is endangered," said Rev. Robert A. Baer, pastor of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church in Westland.

And that, according to Rev. Baer, is that. He said there has been no controversy in his congregation over abortion.

"I assume if they're a member of our congregation, they (the members) adhere to our standards," he said.

Lutheran synods are split on the abortion issue and area pastors have experienced deep inner conflict in justifying their positions and opinions. But, clearly, abortion is just as emotional and divisive an issue three weeks before the election as it ever was.

Romulus mayor sets rules for Halloween

Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael is urging community-wide cooperation in making this year's observance of Halloween a happy and safe one for Romulus youngsters.

"Halloween can be a real fun time for children and adults," he said. "To see all the costumes and happy children is part of our American way of life. We of the City of Romulus want to see that this privilege is continued."

The mayor lists a set of rules:

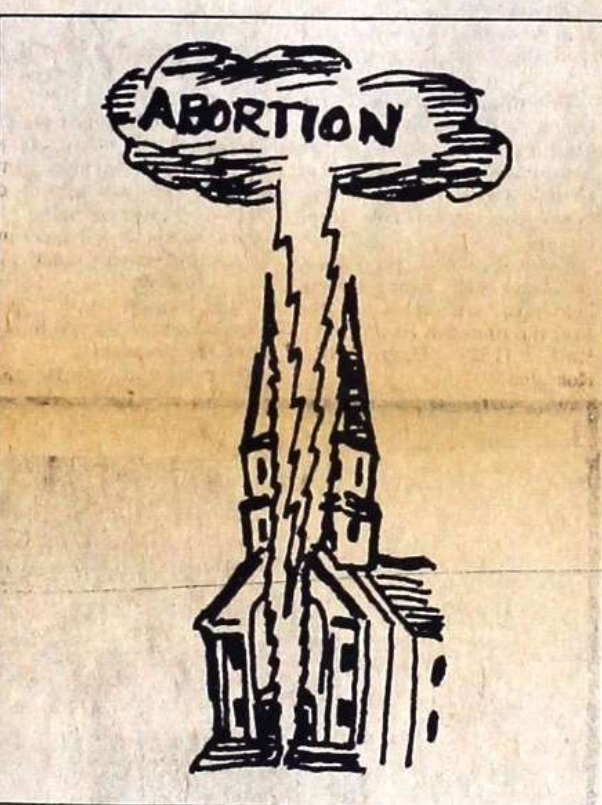

(1) Trick-or-treat only for children under ten years of age accompanied by adults.

(2) Trick-or-treat to stop at 8:30 p.m.

(3) People in subdivisions to leave porch lights on to make it safe for all children.

(4) Parents to see that their children are off the streets by 9 p.m.

(5) Police and city vehicles will be patrolling to see that the above rules are adhered to.

"I would like to emphasize that this (abortion question) should be a personal conscientious decision," he said.

Rev. Beckham doesn't like abortion, but he has no doubts about the necessity for abortion reform. He sponsored a resolution at his synod's district convention, "affirming the right of personal conscientious decision" in the abortion question. He said it passed "almost unanimously."

"In my opinion, abortion is the lesser of many evils," he said, referring to social problems such as child abuse, unwanted children and women dead or permanently injured from illegal or self-induced abortion.

Mental health program must reach more

By DON HOENSHELL Daily Eagle Lansing Bureau Chief

Dr. E. Gordon Yudashkin said the state's mental health program is reaching less than half of those who need help.

That is one pressure driving his campaign to build community-based mental health services and empty state hospitals.

The second is that a national trend toward community services has shown patients not seriously disturbed recover more quickly in hometown facilities.

"We're reaching about three per cent of the population every year," he said. "That many get some kind of mental health service we can provide."

"If we had total, unlimited services we would be reaching eight to 10 per cent of the population every year. That's the goal."

Yudashkin, director of the state mental health department, said the new directions are being implemented slowly outstate and are meeting strong resistance in the Detroit area.

He said his department is making a statewide needs survey to determine what is required locally to house and treat a lesser-disturbed patient.

"Now we're finding an interaction between community agencies and state institutions that wouldn't have been possible two years ago," he said.

Zoning problems and community resistance to cottage-type housing for mental patients are two major roadblocks, but encouraging signs can be seen.

He said there are 1,900 patients who have been cured still waiting in the state's mental hospitals for placement. Most have no home, family and are snarled in governmental red tape.

Many of the 1,900 are elderly and qualify for Medicaid but satisfying federal and state departments as to their eligibility and completing the paperwork is a monumental and confusing chore. Part of the problem is getting Medicaid to cover psychiatric costs.

"I guess until the departments get 10 pounds of paperwork they can't be satisfied," Yudashkin said.

He said a plan is being prepared to provide a dossier on each patient sent back to a community facility, describing any special needs for treatment, his limitations and potential for the guidance of those who provide local services.

At the moment, Yudashkin said, there is no accurate means to determine what the needs are in mental health.

"Hopefully a year from now we'll have answers to some of these questions," he said. "Right now it's anybody's guess just where we are and what we should be doing."

He said he is using a $3 million discretionary fund, built up by reducing the total state program, to pay "bribes" to state hospitals to cure and quickly discharge marginal cases.

"The more people they get out, the more money they get," he said. "The incentive plan ranges from $100 to $275 per patient released."

"It's funny to be talking about production but, really, we're in a business and the product is mentally healthy people."

He said the irony is that some mental institutions with budgets up to $15 million improve their performance to get that extra $100 to $275 for other parts of their program.

Yudashkin said that one hospital discharged 96 cured patients under the program, another 35 to 40 and another 41. He did not identify the hospitals.

With the hospitals treating only the severely disturbed patients, the professional staffs would have more time to handle the cases and discharge them faster.

Mental health services, he said, then might be extended to disturbed juveniles, those with problems developing on industrial jobs.

"I'm not sure we should be doing our thing in clinics, particularly in helping juveniles," he said. "They should be treated in schools or in the home."

The average cost per patient day in a general hospital is $35 he said. Hospitals, however, charge only $28. Families of patients are required to contribute part of the cost, based on their income.

Yudashkin said outstate areas have been receptive to the trend toward community mental health programs. Macomb and Oakland counties have run into zoning problems.

"When you get to Detroit, they don't accept anything," he said. "I've got to admit that in Detroit we made no impact at all."

"But we're working and the field of mental health has got to take these new directions or fail to serve the people who need help most."

Michigan must change back to 'fast time'

Michigan has been one hour behind the times observed in all but two other states for six months of every year since 1968. It has been a period of confusion and massive inconvenience to almost every public and private sector.

Voters on November 7 will have an opportunity to correct the mistake by approving Proposal A, forcing the legislature to accept the Federal Uniform Time Act of 1966.

The proposal would change Michigan to Daylight Savings Time from the last Sunday in April until the last Sunday in October when all other states except Arizona and Hawaii make the shift. The lingering arguments against the proposal are unconvincing.

Those who argue against DST contend it would hurt the operators of farms, outdoor movie theaters, bars and bowling alleys. We sympathize with the farmers who claim the crops cannot be harvested until the sun dissipates the dew, but the point loses impact when a one-hour adjustment in the work schedule is considered.

And the admitted importance of bars, drive-in theaters and bowling alleys to recreation and the economy pales beside the critical need to remove even a one-hour handicap from the increasing burdens on other businesses and industry.

In the case of interstate operations, Michigan's economy loses two hours a day. The reversion to year-around Eastern Standard Time causes Michigan's economy to start an hour later than the eastern cities, through which most business is transacted.

For the first hour in the morning, Michigan businessmen cannot be reached by contacts in eastern states because they are not yet at their offices. Michigan businessmen cannot reach the eastern contacts during the last hour of the day because the eastern business day has ended.

National television and radio schedules are confused; air travel — fast developing as the lifeline of the economy — is complicated; and the vital links between government offices in Michigan and Washington are damaged.

We believe the voters were understandably confused when they went to the polls in 1968. The wording on the ballot was such that a clearcut decision was almost impossible.

The 25-word proposal as it will appear on the ballot will be simple.

And so is the choice.

We support proposal A to bring Michigan into line with the rest of the country.

No-fault insurance bill is significant

By EDWARD E. MAHALAK
State Representative 38th District

One of the most significant acts of the 1972 legislature could be the approval of no-fault auto insurance.

A no-fault insurance bill has just been passed in the house. It differs somewhat from a similar bill approved earlier by the senate. It is expected that differences between the two bills will be worked out before the end of the fall session.

If so, the new system is expected to become effective on Oct. 1, 1973.

Under no-fault, an insurance company would have to promptly pay its policyholders for losses suffered in auto accidents. Fault, or blame for the accident, would not be an issue in settling the claims.

The present fault system, which so often involves lawsuits, is one in which too few people recover their losses adequately and in which others have to wait months and sometimes years for a settlement, during which time they can suffer severe financial hardships and other losses not recoverable. Some victims are overcompensated and other undercompensated.

In addition, the lawsuits brought about under the fault system have created an immense burden on the courts. It is felt that much of this could be relieved by no-fault settlements and that it is a better approach which will speed compensation to accident victims when they need it most, instead of forcing them to go through the expense and uncertainties of court actions.

Basically, this is what the house version of the no-fault bill would do:

—Require compulsory auto insurance for all vehicles except motorcycles.

—Phase out the uninsured motorists fund and replace it with an insurers' assigned risk pool.

—Provide first party medical and rehabilitation coverage of as much as $60,000 per person and funeral expenses of $1,500.

—Provide income loss to as much as $200 per week or 85 per cent of the loss over three years and non-wage earner replacement services of as much as $20 per day for three years. That limit would be adjusted annually to reflect changes in the cost of living.

—Permit lawsuits to recover economic losses above the limits of the no-fault coverage, to recover property damage and for intentionally-caused harm to persons or property.

—Permit lawsuits for "pain and suffering," non-economic losses only in case of death, serious impairment of bodily functions or permanent serious disfigurement.

Insurance rates could not be adjusted based on the extent or frequency of first-party bodily injury losses. The insurance companies would have to pay the benefits as the loss is suffered. Failure to do so within 30 days would result in an interest penalty against the company.

The house selected the Oct. 1, 1973 effective date to provide the state supreme court an opportunity to review the constitutionality of the law.

Streets occupy 1 per cent of land

By THEODORE F. KUCKELMAN
Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce

Despite the often heard prediction that this country is about to become one huge paved parking lot, the fact is that street and roads both surfaced and unsurfaced occupy less than one per cent of the total land area according to the Highway Users Federation. In urbanized areas, the average is 25 to 30 per cent, about the same as before the automobile was invented.

Fire prevention week chairman Dick Wood reports that 2,800 grade school children in six schools participated in the Fire Prevention Week program sponsored by the chamber which included demonstration of fire equipment from the Belleville, Van Buren and Sumpter Fire Departments.

R. J. Enterprises has moved to 10705 Belleville Rd. (just north of I-94), according to owner Richard Dine.

The Belleville Animal

Hospital, 437 Sumpter Rd. is under new ownership — Dr. Gerald A. Graf. Dr. Dayton Prouty is leaving to take up residency in Marquette, Michigan.

Chamber welcomes new members — Jim Springer of Gambles of Belleville, 414 Main St.; Ray Dau of Belleville Home Bakery, 601 E. Huron River Dr. and Sherman Dixon and Fred Radloff of Ferguson's Mobil Service, 11250 Haggerty Rd. at I-94.

Romulus gets funds for collection

By ROBERT L. MCCONEGHY
Superintendent of Romulus Schools

During the past week the Romulus school district received a check for $1,550,000 which was the last major distribution to be made on the recent summer tax collection in which the school district participated for the first time.

The total summer tax revenues amounted to $2,400,000 which resulted from a 50 per cent levy of the total school tax.

Residents may recall that last year the board of education petitioned and received approval from the Romulus City Council for the school district to participate in the summer tax collection. Previously taxpayers received their tax bills in December with a final payment date in February.

In recent years most school districts had to borrow increasing amounts of money in the fall to meet bills and payrolls until winter tax money was collected. Romulus was one of those districts.

Tax Anticipation Notes were authorized by the Municipal Finance Commission in 1969 for $1,000,000; in 1970 for $1,250,000 and in 1971 for $1,500,000.

As a result of these borrowings, several thousands of dollars were paid out in interest — dollars which could have been used for the education of Romulus students.

Last fiscal the interest cost on that $1,500,000 was in excess of $25,000. As a result of the summer tax collection, this money can be budgeted into instructional areas.

Hopefully, paying this summer tax did not prove too great a burden for the Romulus taxpayer. Tax statements will again be sent out in December, however the amount due for schools will be half of what taxpayers have been responsible for in the past.

The board of education is most appreciative of the city council granting participation in the summer tax collection.

City employees charged with the responsibility of collecting this tax and its prompt distribution are to be commended for their excellent cooperation.

Poetry corner

The following poem was submitted by Mrs. Gwendolyn Chevalier of Romulus in the memory of her father, Frank Megie, who died in 1942 at the age of 76.

THE RURAL MAIL CARRIER

He carried mail for Uncle Sam
so many years ago,
It was in Northern Michigan where we had our share of snow.

There were no automobiles then, at least not up our way.
Most familiar sight in summer was the farmer making hay.

The roads were full of chuck holes, in winter banked with snow.
Some days the faithful horses,
just really couldn't go.

On these days the farmer with nothing else to do
Peering from his window, said, I hope the mail comes through.

So every effort he would make to keep the home folks glad,
If only an advertisement or a letter from his lad.

Some took the county paper to see what was taking place.
Maybe an old friend passed away, we'll miss his familiar face.

Besides the mail, he had the job of taking parcel post.
You'd be surprised if you could see what the farmer needed most.

From apple trees to little chicks, or clothes for Jane or Willie,
With his wagon full, no place for him,
sometimes he felt quite silly.

When the time comes to retire, I'll be so glad, he said.
Won't have to face the weather, while others stay in bed.

Soon he was through, no more the same familiar road to see.
He found himself a-dreaming of the days that used to be.

The old mail bags he couldn't leave,
he mended them with care.
They're in the bottom of his trunk, and I will keep them there.

Because I know just how he felt when he crossed the other side,
Serving man is serving God who in,
all of us abide.

Cook-Hardin wed

Fathers of principals officiate at wedding

Baskets of gold and bronze pom poms adorned the altar of Mt. Pleasant Assembly of God in Mt. Pleasant October 7 as Cheryl Le Hardin exchanged nuptial vows with Ronald Duane Cook of Belleville.

Tall white tapers in candleabra tied with gold ribbon formed the candlelight setting for the seven o'clock ceremony read by the Rev. Kenneth Hardin and the Rev. Sanford Cook, fathers of the bride and bridegroom.

Mrs. Ruth Thom was at the organ to accompany Philip Cook as he sang "Because",

"Each for the Other", "The Lord's Prayer", and "Wither Thou Goest".

THE BRIDE, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Hardin of Farwell, Michigan, chose for her wedding a floor-length gown of white bridal satin designed in the A-line mode with a fitted bodice and modified bell sleeves with lace trimming the waist, cuffs and hemline.

A wide Dior bow secured her chapel-length illusion veil which was bordered with lace to match her gown. Both the dress and veil were designed by the bride and made by her mother.

Completing her bridal ensemble was a crescent bouquet of white standard mums, baby's breath, gold star flowers, and ivy.

Honor attendant was the bridegroom's sister-in-law, Mrs. Sanford Cook, II, of Belleville who donned an A-line frock of avocado polyester double knit. A bow in lighter avocado, which centered the back of the dress, matched that worn as a headpiece. For contrast, she carried a single long-stemmed standard gold mum tied with orange ribbon streamers.

Of course, your "thing" may be Cake Decorating, or Acrylic Tole Painting, both being taught with Holidays in mind, this time of year! For information on any or ALL of this, call Mary Ann Anderson, at: 453-7136.

● WHAT A WASTE, if the people at National Unclaimed Furniture Showrooms were to use available space to do "Room Groupings" which would never, ever fit into one individual's Home, looking just exactly the way it did in the Showroom... unless you bought the ENTIRE thing! And what a clever "gimmick" for the people eager to oversell Y.O.U. the Public! AND, how nice to know that while people have "dozens" of COMPLETE ROOM GROUPINGS for you to choose... that our good friends at National have just as much space (and more!)... for you to choose "FROM". The subtle difference now being obvious, of course! At NATIONAL UNCLAIMED FURNITURE SHOWROOMS, (29855 Ford Rd., Garden City - 126 E. 14 Mi. W. of Oakland Mall - 31795 Groesbeck (M-97), bet 13-14 Mi. - 1530 Pinegrove, Port Huron) the accent is ONLY on offering you the largest selection available anywhere, at the price you can afford to pay, on whichever plan YOU select! Whether it's a Roomful... or a Footstool, the thing you want is THERE. If it isn't... it hasn't been made. And that's the truth!

● THE ANNOUNCEMENT, by several Supermarkets, that they either could not open or would no longer be open on a later-hour basis, proved a point to Shoppers' Digest Readers, so our mail tells us! DANNY'S MARKETS, at 3031 S. Telegraph - 2563 Warren, 1 Bl. E. of Beech-Daly - 30221 Cherry Hill, at Henry Ruff, were open before the Chains chose to imitate them... and will remain open, now that Chain Stores are again reducing their hours! In many years of Comparison Shopping... Opinion Polling... Accurate Reporting... we have, we know, enough background to estimate the reasons: Nobody, not anyone... for ANY price, can offer you better Service than Danny's Markets! Nor can they offer you greater Variety, finer Meats, and MOST important: greater Savings! From Service-through-Savings, Danny's has them all beat! People who shop the competition constantly, inform us that by actual comparison with the 3 leading competitors, Danny's prices are consistently the same or LESS! What more need be added? The announcement by others, of a return to shorter hours... said it for us!

● WE ARE SO PROUD to announce the opening of TWO MORE PLAYGIRL FIGURE SALONS, one in Madison Heights and another in Ann Arbor! This, we knew for certain, was one of the greatest things to hit Michigan... and your fantastic acceptance proved it! Those of our Readers who have Friends or Relatives in These areas would like to send them FREE passes for a visit to these wonderful new Facilities, may drop us a line at P.O. Box 2482, in Livonia (48151), with either their Address... or your own, and let us know the number of Cards you can use. We'll be delighted to send them to you, poste haste! Now, everything we've said about Playgirl Figure Salons, Michigan's first two in the Tel-Ford Shopping Center (Telegraph & Ford Rd., in Drbn.) and at the swank new Drake's Center (at Gd. River & Drake Rd., in Farmington), goes for the Madison Heights and Ann Arbor Salons, also, since Playgirl Salons are not only the same wherever they are in the U.S., but the results keep getting better all the time! Be their Guests, and ours, by contacting us for free passes! (Call us at 261 0076, if you don't have time to write!)

STEP INTO THE PAST — St. Anthony's Parish is setting the clock back a bit — to the Gay 90's — as it prepares for its annual fall bazaar set for Nov. 4 and 5 in the Father Folta Building on the church grounds. Members who've lent a hand to the decor are (from left) Mrs. Celia Rossi, Mrs. Dorothy Florian, and Tom Branscomb. Father Raymond Skoney (right) gives his nod of approval. Dozens of booths are being prepared including a bake shoppe, emporium, fancy work counter, fish pond, Christmas corner, and an old-fashioned 'bier garten'. Hours on Saturday are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Sunday 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

BEHIND THE SCENES — Joe Komaromi of Belleville added his artistic talents to a back-drop which will be used during the two-day event. The Gay 90's scene will be a colorful addition when the booths are set up for the annual bazaar.

When in doubt they use 'Ms'

By ANN BLACKMAN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON AP — When in doubt, use "Ms." That's the philosophy of an increasing number of government workers when they need to refer to women in correspondence and other official documents.

A survey of more than a dozen government departments and agencies indicated no official policy exists on the use, or nonuse, of the title which some women's rights organizations have proposed as a substitute for the titles "Miss" and "Mrs."

Most of those interviewed expressed the view of Pentagon spokesman John Becker, who said, "We have no objection to 'Ms.' But in routine correspondence, we use 'Miss' or 'Mrs.' according to our policy book. However, if a woman signs herself 'Ms.' in a letter, we address her that way in the reply."

Those government workers who do use "Ms." regularly say it simplifies record keeping, saves time and avoids embarrassing mistakes.

"For one thing, it's efficient when you make lists," said Rosslyn Kleenan at the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. "It saves so much time, and the time saves money. We use it in our office automatically."

Ms. Kleenan, acting director of HEW's Woman's Action Program, personally prefers the new title. She said it eliminates the possibility of discrimination against married women.

"We don't ask men if they're married or plan to raise families," she said. "So why should we ask women?"

Several personnel directors said it is often necessary for insurance purposes to know if an employee is married and has dependents, but that for divorced women the title can be misleading.

PLAN DINNER OUT — The highlight of the annual bazaar will be ham and chicken dinners served from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Sunday, Nov. 5. Dinner co-chairman Mrs. Lucille Remus (left) extends a cordial invitation to the community to attend. She and Mrs. Betty Tontalo are shown with a Nativity scene grouping, just one of the many items to be featured at the event.

Girl Scout Council meets in Dallas, Texas

Twenty-one representatives of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council left last weekend to attend the 39th convention of the Girl Scout National Council in Dallas, Texas, October 22 to 25. The 4,000 delegates to the triennial meeting planned the next three years' activities for the nation's 3,750,000 Girl Scouts.

Chief items of interest to be voted upon at this year's meeting were changing the Girl Scout oath which was written by Girl Scout founder Juliette Low 60 years ago and lowering the age limit of National Council members from 21 to 14 years.

Appearing on the program was Mrs. Louis Galan, of Dexter, and Miss Suzy Dice of Ann Arbor, who will serve as resource panelists in a session on "Openness and Flexibility in Program." Mrs. Galan, who is second vice-president of the Huron Valley Council, described local program innovations such as Summer '72, the girl-planned neighborhood based program that replaced day-camps locally. Miss Dice, a Senior Scout, talked about her co-ed troop.

Mrs. John Stevens, Executive Director of the local Council, and Mrs. James Kapetsky, spoke on this summer's Interaction Pilot Project of teen-age interest groups in Saline and Sumpter Townships.

Mrs. Patrick Heck of Ypsilanti served on a reactor panel at a general session on the subject of volunteerism. Mrs. Heck is Area Association Chairman for Eastern Washtenaw County.

A perfect pair, ribs and rice

With a rack of ribs in the oven, crisping to perfection, you're on your way to some mighty good eating. Pair the ribs up with a tasty rice dish, such as Chinese Fried Rice, and you're on your way to a great family meal.

Chinese Fried Rice, made with packaged enriched pre-cooked rice, makes dinner carefree from the cook's viewpoint. Preparation takes but a few minutes. It's also a deliciously interesting dish flavored with egg strips, onions, and soy sauce. To complete the meal, just add a green vegetable or salad.

It's an interesting and fun way to bring an Oriental flair to your dinner table. You may also want to try Chinese Fried Rice with other meat entrees. It's simple to prepare, versatile, and economical.

Chinese Fried Rice

- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Dash of pepper
- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
- 1-1/3 cups Minute Rice
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1-1/3 cups water
- 2 teaspoons soy sauce
- 1/4 teaspoon sugar

Add 1/2 teaspoon salt and the pepper to the eggs. Melt butter in large skillet over low heat. Add egg mixture and fry slowly until firm, turning once. Remove from skillet and cut in thin strips.

Saute onion in butter remaining in skillet until lightly browned. Add rice, 1/2 teaspoon salt, and the water. Bring quickly to a boil over high heat. Cover and remove from heat. Let stand 5 minutes. Add egg strips, soy sauce, and sugar; mix lightly. Heat thoroughly. Serve at once. Makes about 1-1/3 cups or 4 servings.

Barbequed Spareribs

- 3 to 4 pounds lean spareribs
- 1-3/4 cups (18-oz. bottle) Open Pit Barbecue Sauce, any flavor
- 1/4 cup dark corn syrup
- 1-1/2 tablespoons lemon juice

Cut spareribs into 2-rib sections. Cover with water and bring to a boil; then reduce heat and cook 20 to 30 minutes. Drain. Combine barbecue sauce, corn syrup, and lemon juice. Arrange drained spareribs in a shallow baking pan. Cover with barbecue sauce mixture. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes; then turn ribs over and bake another 30 minutes, or until tender. For glazed appearance, put spareribs under broiler for 5 minutes. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

TASTY TWOSOME — With a rack of ribs crisping in the oven, you're on your way to some mighty good eating. Serve the ribs with Chinese Fried Rice, made with packaged enriched pre-cooked rice. It's a versatile side dish with Oriental flair. (Courtesy of Minute Rice.)

Amy Vanderbilt's etiquette

Poor grammar irks reader

"Dear Miss Vanderbilt: Thank you for your column on correct English. I am grateful that someone with access to the public mind has brought up the growing misuse of the language.

"During the past three years, recuperating from an illness and too weak to hold a book for long, I saw far more television than one usually would see. At first I was astonished, even inclined to laugh at the broad errors in grammar in dialogue between supposedly educated characters in dramatic roles, in news broadcasts and in the commercials. When I realized, however, how this misuse of language must be affecting the people, particularly the young, I stopped laughing. I find, too, that writers in other fields are contributing to the general breakdown. — M.S."

And don't think that it is affecting only the young. I work with our language every day as carefully as I can, but hear so much misuse of it, sometimes I have to stop and think: Is this the right word? How many people know, for example, that direct and indirect are often confused. The sentence, "Please send it to me direct" means send it by noncircuious route. And while, in the dictionary sense, directly can be used the same way, it has more of a meaning of "immediately, forthwith" in present day usage.

For example: "Come in here directly!" (In colloquial English we would be more likely to say, "Come right here!"). Directly also means today "as soon as." For example: "Directly you make your bed, you may go out to play."

Of course language is a living, breathing thing always in a state of flux. There is a new book out called "Miss Thistlebottom's Hobgoblins" — "The Careful Writer's Guide to the Taboos, Bugbears and Outmoded Rules of English Language" (Farrar, Straus and Giroux, $6.95) by Theodore M. Bernstein whose "Careful Writer" I have quoted before. As you are a careful speaker, I am sure, you may discover from time to time that you are not sticking to the old rule on "none," that is, that the singular verb follows. Mr. Bernstein explains this very interestingly. Here is what he says about "none."

"For a long, long time teachers have been frightening us by telling us never to use none as a plural; the word was a contraction of not one and that was that. What they were doing, one suspects, was carrying out the pedagogical technique of laying down a rule rather than allowing leeway for uncertain individual judgments. However, none sometimes means not one and sometimes means not any or no amount, and it is more commonly construed as a plural than as a singular. When the singular idea predominates — that is, when the word truly suggests not one — the verb is singular: 'The three towns all have high tax rates, but none has its own police force.'

Likewise when none is followed by a singular noun it is usually construed as a singular, as in 'None of the dinner was fit to eat' or 'None of the work was finished in time.' But there are exceptions to this too: 'None of the audience were enthusiastic about the play.' 'None of the company's personnel were on the picket line.' It should be apparent that a flat rule is not advisable. But most often the singular sounds pedantic and the plural is called for: 'None of the boys were to blame.' 'None of the books were interesting.' 'None of the enemy were captured.'

I'm sure Mr. Bernstein won't have unanimous approval on this, but I'm inclined to go along with him. However, I just spotted in the New York Times, of which Mr. Bernstein is an alumnus, the following quite incorrect sentence: "Four centenarians at the home were too fatigued to talk about those years. One, according to her nurse, recently chastised her son to cut your hair." And in the story, Mrs. Howard E. Cox, whose daughter-in-law is Patricia Nixon Cox so everybody must know, was referred to throughout as "Mrs. Anne Cox," something that must have made her chic blond hair stand on end.

Germany artifacts brought by the members were displayed around the room.

The serving area and dining tables were decorated with carnations which were presented to the six guests, Donna Lloyd, Gayle Miller, Eleanor Merecki, Sue Druker, Mary Fry, and Florence McKelvey.

Arrangements for the autumn dinner were handled by Bev Sparrow, program chairman, and her committee, Eula Haft, Carolyn Hyde, and Judy Mendel.

Couple visit son in Europe

THE JOHN BENTLEYS, who operate Bentley Nursery on Morton Taylor Road, returned recently from a two week sojourn in Europe. Jetting their way from Metro and Kennedy Airports, their Icelandic Airlines plane landed in Luxembourg where they rented a car and traveled to Boskof in the Netherlands. Their prime interest there was visiting the Homestead Nursery, Europe's largest, where they placed orders for new tree stock.

After getting the business end of their trip out of the way, the twosome drove to Karlsruhe, Germany for their son, Steve, who's serving with the U.S. Army there. Given time off to travel with his parents, he accompanied them to Frankfurt where they called for a nephew and cousin, Charles Ray of Atlanta, Georgia, another of Uncle Sam's soldiers, who made up their traveling quartet.

Motoring via the scenic route, they toured Germany, Austria, Belgium, Switzerland, and France. A two-day stay in Berchtesgaden (Hitler's former retreat) and a visit to the old Heidelberg Castle were highlights of their trip.

Mrs. Bentley, we hear, was "entranced by the countries, the food, and especially the people and was particularly impressed when a French truck driver came to their rescue when they found themselves lost on the Autobahn. With none of the parties able to understand each other, they communicated with gestures and improvisations and also managed to let the driver know they had no place to stay for the night. The fact that he went 50 miles out of his way to find them accommodations, helped add up to one pleasant memory of Europe.

Game prompts get-together

THE RECENT GAME in Ann Arbor between Michigan and Michigan State prompted the day of activities planned by five couples who were friends while attending college in East Lansing.

Playing host in the a.m., Roger and Aileen Allyn of Belleville entertained at an early breakfast their overnight guests, Bob and Pat Shayne of Columbus, Ohio and Al and Edie Wesson of Livonia. Then it was onto Ann Arbor for a tailgate picnic on the parking grounds with other State classmates, Clay and Jenna Potter from Battle Creek, and Dan and Liz Hinds of Oxford.

After the game the five couples had dinner at Weber's Inn then wound up the evening with cocktails at the Wesson's Livonia home.

Watsons welcome Jimmy

ADDED TO the list of future voters in this pre-election season was the eight pound son born October 7 to Bill and Marilyn Watson of Haggerty Road, Belleville. James Clark Watson (who's called Jimmy) put in his appearance at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor. His mother is the former Marilyn Herkimer, daughter of the Henry Herkimers of Denton Road. The paternal grandparents, also Bellevillites, are the Lloyd Watsons of Farm Road.

Helping to check on her new brother whenever she hears a whimper is Julie Laura Watson, who's 20 months old.

Market mystery

Prefrozen fresh meat is as carefully protected against defrosting from point of freezing to time of purchase as other frozen foods such as fruit juice concentrates and "TV" dinners. Yet most homemakers have exhibited a reluctance to purchase prefrozen fresh meat although they will purchase the other products with complete confidence.

Chamber picks director

The Romulus Metro International Airport Chamber of Commerce has elected four new members to its board of directors.

The new directors were elected at the chamber's annual membership meeting held at the Ramada Inn in Romulus Oct. 16.

The new board directors will take office Nov. 13 when chamber officers will be elected.

The four new directors are Edmund L. Galaska, Bruce W. Osborne, Gervazio (Jerry) Canejo and Richard Donahey.

Galaska is the branch manager of the National Bank of Detroit's airport office.

located on Middlebelt Road in Romulus. Galaska, a long established resident of Dearborn Heights, sees great possibilities for Romulus and finds it a real personal challenge to manage a growing bank in a fast growing community.

Along with a busy day at the bank, Galaska also has found time to take an active interest in the Romulus Chamber of Commerce, since its inception two years ago.

He is a member of the Dearborn Heights Chamber of Commerce, Industrial Development Commission and the Goodfellows organization both of Dearborn Heights. He is a member of the Industrial Development Advisory Commission and the Building Authority, both of Romulus.

Osborne is part owner of the Osborne Concrete Co. in Romulus. Osborne expressed a definite need for the Romulus Chamber to put more effort into attracting to Romulus shops such as apparel for men and women, "a five and ten" and a complete office supply.

The Osbornes started the business in Romulus in 1965 and have seven transit mix trucks, and pride themselves with "fast and dependable" service within a 10-mile radius of the Romulus location to all residential, commercial and industrial accounts.

Besides being a member of the chamber, Osborne is a member of the PTA for Wayne Public Schools.

Canejo, owner of the Canejo & Son Trucking Co. in Romulus, has been a resident and businessman in Romulus since 1952.

He has hopes that the chamber will be able to concentrate a little more attention on trying to keep Romulus consumers patronizing the local business establishments whenever possible.

Canejo has seven rubbish pick-up trucks handling commercial accounts in Romulus, and is under city contract to Woodhaven, Flat Rock, Gibraltar, Brownstown Township and the Village of South Rockwood.

Canejo, a charter member of the chamber, also is the new president of the Romulus Kiwanis Club and sergeant-at-arms of the Romulus Democratic Club.

Donahey is vice president and part owner of the United Brass Manufacturing Co. in Romulus, and Brass Fittings in Flat Rock.

He is serving his third year on the Suburban Advisory Board of the National Bank of Detroit in Belleville.

United Brass was the first manufacturing facility to locate on Goddard Road between S. Wayne Road and the Detroit Metro Airport.

NEW DIRECTORS — The Romulus Metro International Airport Chamber of Commerce has elected four new directors to its 12-member board. Elected to three-year terms at the chamber's annual membership meeting were: (from left) Bruce Osborne of the Osborne Concrete Co., Gervazio Canejo of the Canejo & Son Trucking Co., Edmund Galaska, head of the Romulus branch of the National Bank of Detroit; and Richard Donahey of the United Brass Manufacturing Co. in Romulus. The board of directors will meet on Nov. 13 to elect officers.

Young adults warned of drinking, driving

State Sen. William Faust (D-13th District) warned young adults that a reckless few could bring a bad name to the many.

"Although most young adults have been responsible in the exercise of their new privilege since the legal drinking age was lowered Jan. 1, I fear that continued misuse of the drinking right by a few could overshadow the exemplary behavior of the many," Faust said.

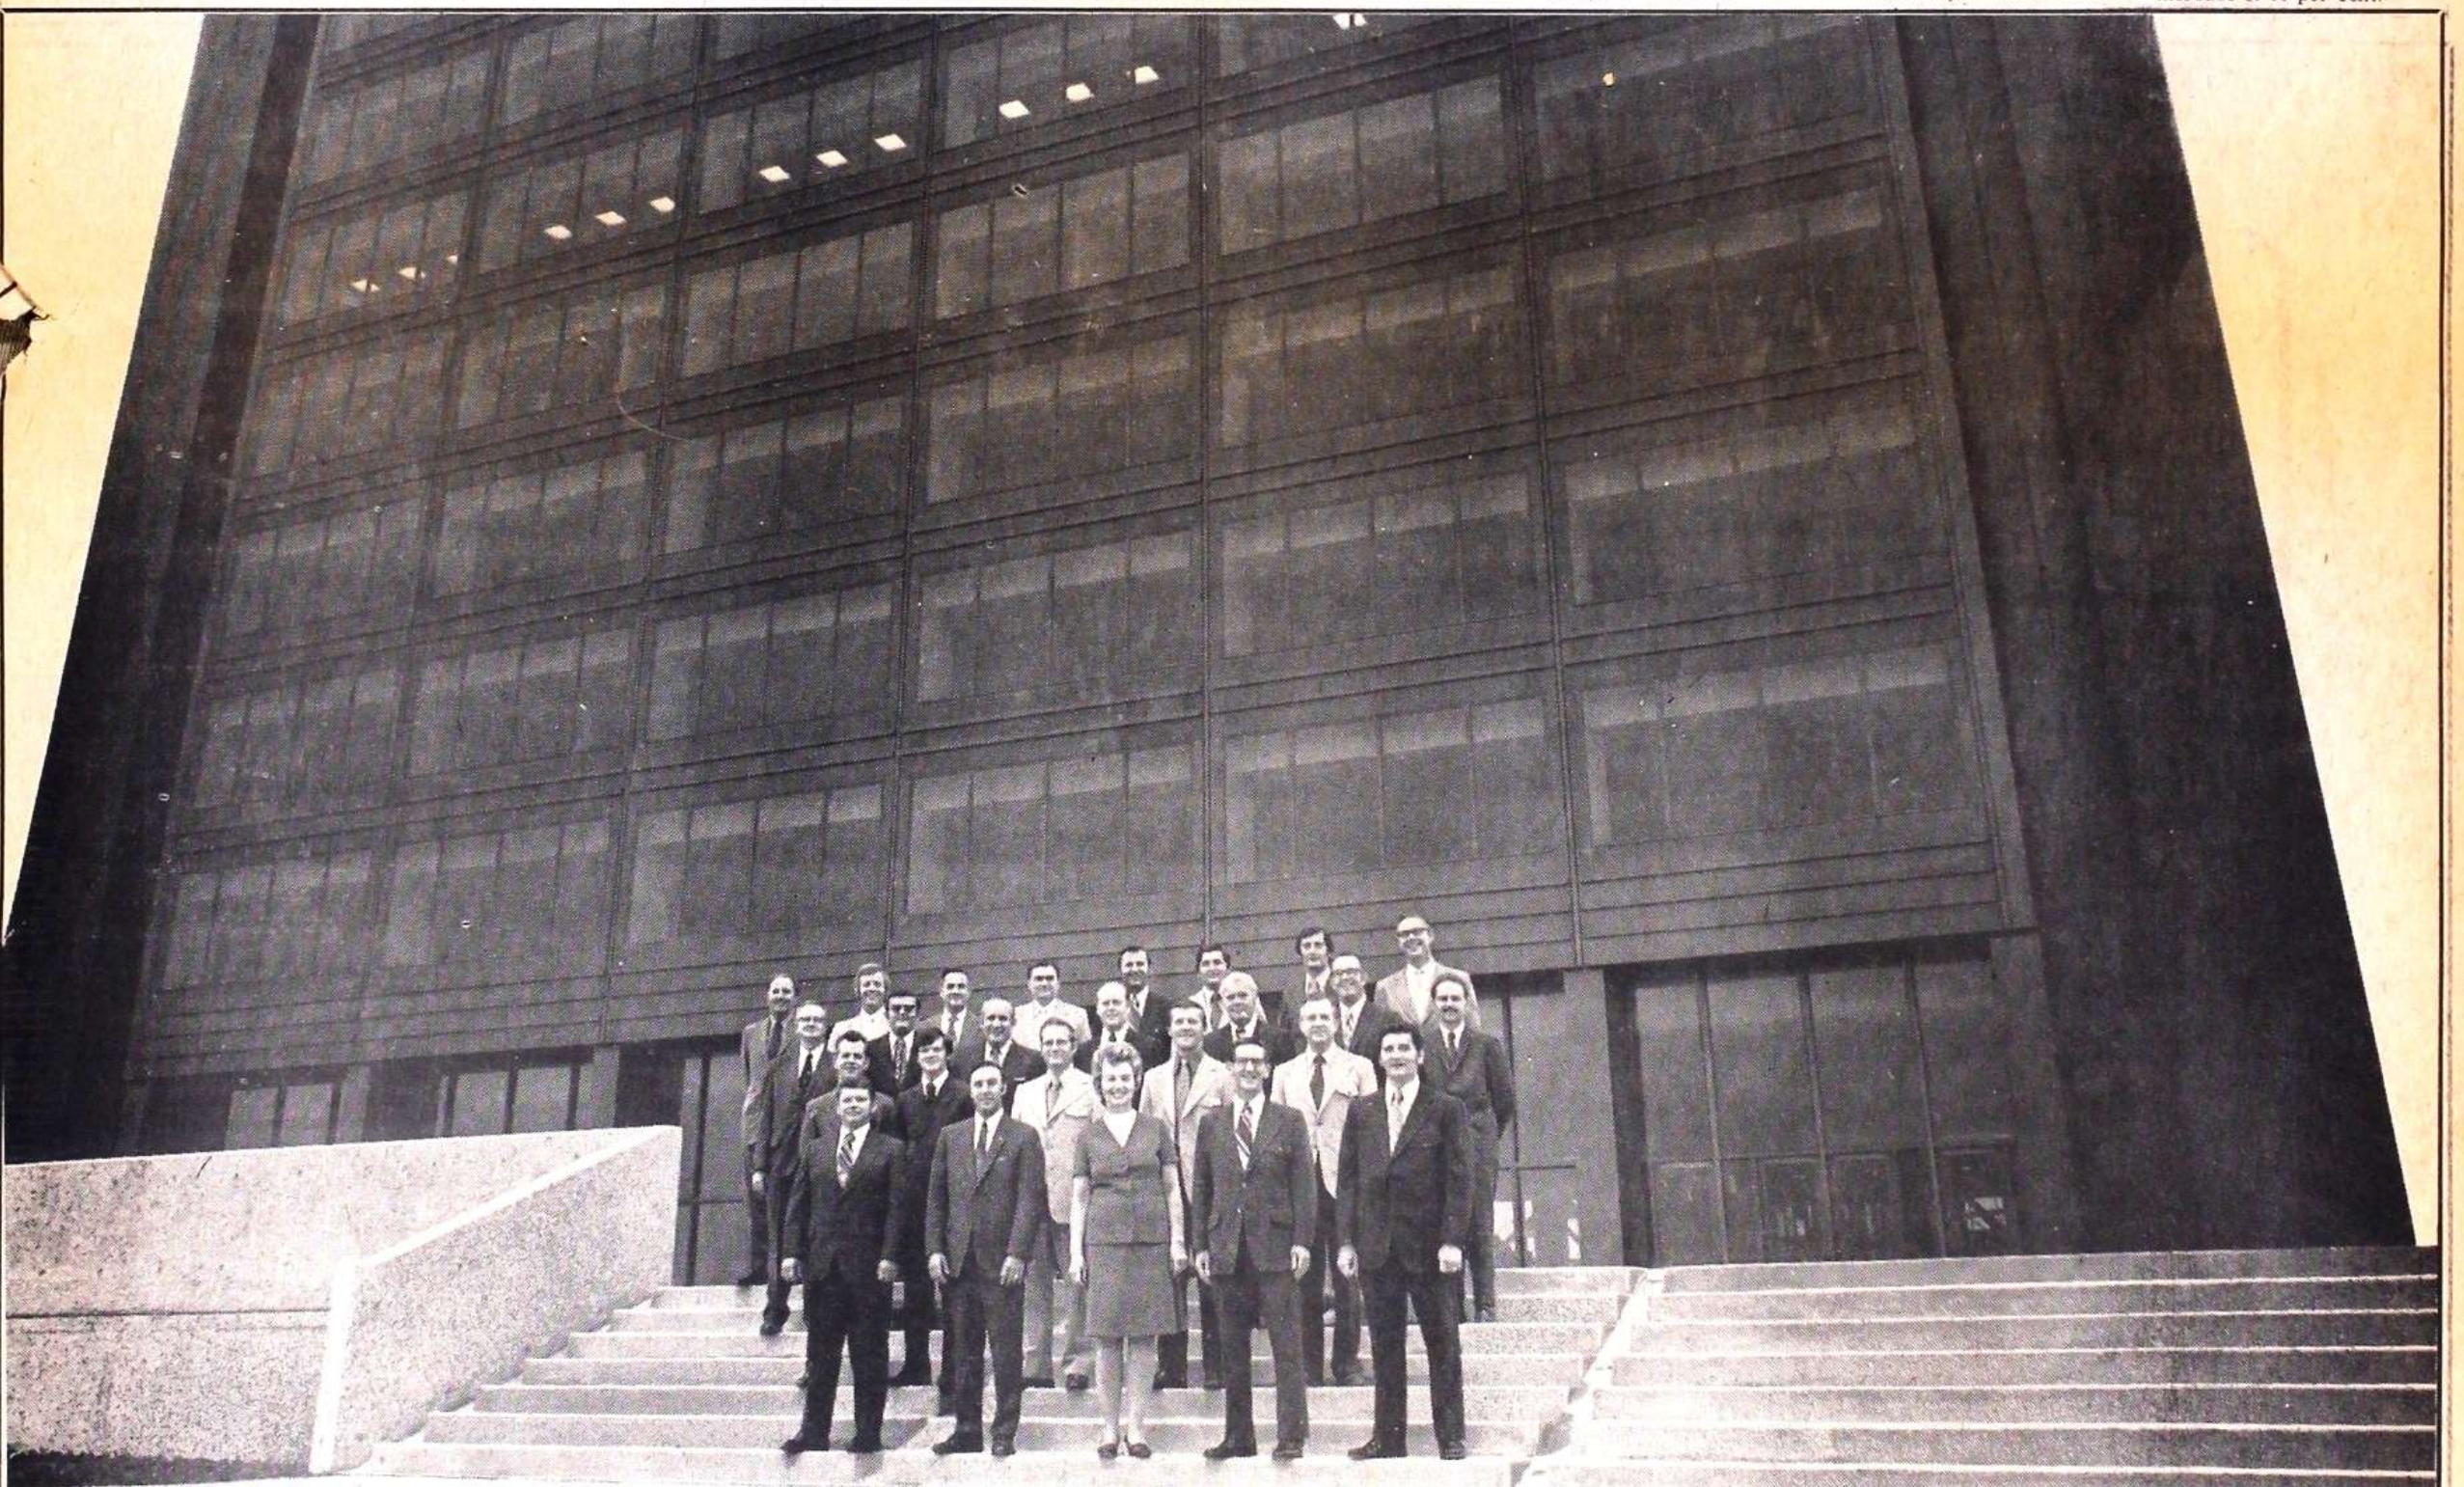

"I would admonish young adults not to drive if they drink excessively, lest they jeopardize the right of their friends to drink."

According to Michigan State Police reports, alcohol-related traffic accidents among 18 to 20 year olds increased 144 per cent during the first six months of this year. Accidents increased from 1,532 recorded in the first half of 1971 to 3,738 for the first half of 1972. Similarly, alcohol-related injury accidents among 18 to 20 year olds went from 679 to 1,627 — an increase of 140 per cent.

State Police statistics also showed a six per cent increase in the total fatalities in the first six months of 1972, from 945 in 1971 to 1,003 this year.

Thirty-three accidents in 1971, and 62 accidents in 1972 were alcohol caused fatalities among 18 to 20 year olds, an increase of 90 per cent.

Romulus

Atmosphere is serene

By SUE MORRIS

The atmosphere at Romulus High this week is serene. After the hectic homecoming activities of last week, the student body has settled down to the routine of school life.

The annual homecoming parade consisted of 20 entries with the best club car award going to the Spanish Club. The class of 1973 created a pink elephant with the slogan "Stomp 'Em" to capture the best float award.

A surprise tie in class competition gave both the juniors and sophomores the right to claim the spirit jug. Tearful and happy Denise Shreve was crowned the 1972-73 homecoming queen during half-time festivities. She and her court presided over the homecoming dance.

For college-bound juniors the reality of school hit hard yesterday. Juniors took the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test - National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test.

This test helps students prepare for the Scholastic Aptitude Test which is taken in a student's senior year and is necessary in order to qualify for a National Merit Scholarship.

Belleville

Ceremonies are success

By TOM KETCHUM

Friday evening was a night of crowning achievements for Belleville's Homecoming. Sue Bogardus was crowned queen, the senior class and the music department were crowned float winners, and Belleville High School crowned Dearborn, 12-0.

Included in the traditional Homecoming ceremonies were the parade, snake dance from Victory Park to the school, drum major Lee Wolfgang's dance with the queen at half-time, an alumni band, and the Saturday night Homecoming Dance. Homecoming 1972 was a successful affair.

The National Honor Society will hold a bake sale Saturday, in front of Hamilton's Hardware Store. Fresh, home-baked goodies such as bread, pies, cakes, and cookies will be up for sale.

The Belleville Chapter of this national organization is trying to supplement its treasury. Also in the planning stages is the induction ceremony for new members, to be held in November or December.

Belleville's Biology Club has sprouted a growing idea. The Bug Club members have planted trees and shrubs in the courtyard between the west wing and boy's gym.

Belleville High School proudly possesses a new American and Michigan flag. The flags were presented to the school by the Disabled American Veterans on the behalf of Phil Cole, a '68 graduate of BHS.

The Tiger Print, BHS newspaper, has found a cure for its $3,000 debt. Huron Rotary Offset, the printing company to whom the debt is owed, has an offshoot company that prints shirts. Students will be able to buy a T-shirt that says anything they want.

Belleville debaters win

The novice division of the Belleville Senior High School Debate Team won a first place award (perfect score) at a high school debate tournament held at Southfield Lathrup High School. The novice debate team members are Diane Carley (first affirmative), John Dougherty (second affirmative), Renee Jones, (first negative) and Charles Dougherty (second negative).

The debate proposition was "Resolved: the federal government should exclusively finance all secondary and elementary public schools."

Tournament officials awarded the team a plaque. The team coach is David White.

TITLE 1 AIDES — Local mothers are assisting the staff of Title 1 Program at Van Buren Public Schools. Three of the ten mothers are (from left) Mrs. Mary Lou Lamanski, Mrs. Barbara Villeneuve and Mrs. Ann Bailey. Title 1 Program is a federally-sponsored program for Reading Improvement and Social Behavior.

Huron

Photographers take court pix

By SUE MAIANI

Two photographers came to Huron recently to take pictures of the Yearbook Princess Court. The six girls on this year's court are: Mary Bialas, Jo Lynn Gobloy, Becky Hibbitts, Sue Maiani, Linda Phipps, and Denise Sadler. Pictures were taken at Willow Park, and will be sent in for judging.

This year the students and administration are thankful to have the assistance of Mrs. Sandra Blair, who helps our librarian, Mrs. Margaret Smith. Originally from Taylor, Mrs. Blair now lives in the Huron district and has two lovely children.

She is a graduate of Wayne State University, and has obtained a masters degree in library sciences. She comes to the library every Tuesday and Thursday, and puts in a few hours of work, helping us with book cataloging and other library tasks.

A student council meeting was held last Wednesday, at which John Hampson, assistant-principal at Huron, made a very memorable and appreciative proposal to the student members. Mr. Hampson said that he would shave his beard and mustache off in front of all the students, if they would give to him a $1,000 check. The check would be donated to a charitable organization.

Friends of the School, better known as FOTS, have been very busy this year helping the school in many ways. They brought excitement to the annual Homecoming game, when they displayed fireworks and a spotlight on the flag during the national anthem. They also raised enough money to buy the school a state flag which was donated last week to principal William Miller.

An assembly was held for all senior girls, Oct. 17, in order to inform them of the Annual Huron Valley Junior Miss Pageant.

The Pageant, which will be held on Nov. 18, is under the direction of Leonard Folmar of Romulus. Starting the week of November 12, pre-rehearsals will be held on Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday.

Along with the senior girls entering from Huron, will be the 1972-73 Huron High Band under the direction of Scott Ludwig. To promote the pageant for next year, every junior girl will receive a free ticket to this year's pageant.

The 1973 Huron High Chieftain will go on sale from October 30 to November 10. The theme of this year's book is, "A New Day," and will be symbolized by a full color picture of a sunrise on the cover.

The girls basketball teams lost to their airport rivals last week.

Junior high gets 2 trees

Two Mountain Ash trees recently were planted in the center court yard at the South Junior High School in Belleville.

The trees are the first in a series of court yard developments to implement the plans of retired South Junior High School teacher, Mrs. Aletha Collyer of 8260 Judd Rd., Willis.

The landscaping of the court yard will provide shade for the students when working on their science projects and also will benefit the wildlife that will be attracted to this sheltered environment.

Mothers aid staff in area

Ten area mothers have offered their service to the staff of Title 1, a federally-sponsored program for reading improvement and social behavior, used in the Van Buren Public School District. The mothers will work twice weekly to aid small groups of kindergarten students who live in target areas, according to Mrs. Ella Woolery, director of the program.

The purpose of these sessions is to reinforce the work of the classroom teachers in helping to provide a solid foundation in reading readiness for kindergarten students.

Last year, a complete reading readiness language arts project was developed by classroom teachers, the para-professionals and Title 1 staff.

Parents are invited to the schools where these projects are in operation to observe the progress of the children and offer suggestions for its improvement. The schools are Sumpter, Haggerty Road, Quirk Road and Rawsonville Road Elementary Schools and St. Anthony Catholic School.

"The para-professional have been an invaluable service to our schools," Mrs. Woolery said.

Local mothers assisting Title 1 state are Mrs. Donna Clark, Mrs. Linda Marcum, Mrs. Carol LaPorte, Mrs. Joan Soberalski, Mrs. Cheri Salow, Mrs. Sandy Askew, Mrs. Betty Pingston, Mrs. Mary Lou Lamanski, Mrs. Barbara Villeneuve and Mrs. Ann Bailey.

Senior citizens teach children special skills

Students at the Edgemont Elementary School in Belleville are discovering that one of America's most precious "natural resources" are her senior citizens.

Several times each week members of the Belleville Area Senior Citizens Club stop at the school to share their "special wisdom," talents and skills with the students.

At a recent visit to the school, Mrs. Elizabeth Leschinsky, a club member, played the role of story-teller and reading coach to a small group of kindergartens and second graders; while Mrs. Betty Taylor, also a club member, offered "expert" advice and assistance in knitting and crocheting to fifth and sixth graders participating in the school's special interest programs.

Arthur Sullens also conducted a kazoo and rhythm band workshop in which students not only performed, but constructed their own "home-made" rhythm instruments.

Early indications are that the relationships developed through such a program can be very rich and rewarding, with both the senior citizens and students giving and receiving in turn, according to the senior citizens.

The Belleville Area Senior Citizens Club was founded in 1966 by Richard Coffelt, former music teacher at Van Buren Public Schools, who served as director from then until August, 1972. The club's current director is Jon Hale, sixth grade teacher at Edgemont Elementary School.

The club officers are: William Moser, president; Ollie Hunter, vice president; Mrs. Helen Essex, secretary; and O. David Criss, treasurer.

The club meets at 6:30 p.m. on Thursdays at Edgemont School, 125 Edgemont St. Membership is open to retired or semi-retired residents of Belleville or Van Buren Township who are at least 50 years of age.

Students make money for trip

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is the fourth of a series of weekly articles submitted by teachers or students at Mt. Pleasant Elementary School in Romulus. This week's article was submitted by sixth grade students at the school.

In May, five fifth grade classes at Mt. Pleasant School will be flying to Washington, D.C. for a one-day trip. To help pay for their expenses, some of the planned money-making projects have begun.

Each week a different class has a money-making project. This consists of the sale of popcorn, apples, candy and carnal apples.

On Monday, Oct. 16, 63 cases of candy were delivered to Mt. Pleasant School. In addition to all the candy and other goodies, the classes have organized a raffle for a transistor radio. The tickets are 25 cents and the drawing will be held on Halloween Day.

Mrs. Jessie Simmons, Miss Mary Peterson, Mrs. Charlotte Price, Mrs. Jane Behymer and Mrs. Jane Rodgers (the teachers organizing the trip) are looking forward to an enjoyable trip to Washington, D.C.

Last weekend, Fluffy the rabbit, who lives in Room No. 3 (the class of Miss Peterson) gave birth to five white bunnies. Fluffy was staying with the Laginess family for the weekend and you can imagine their surprise.

Fluffy and her babies are doing very well and all the children in the school are quite pleased with the new additions.

C and D is tax Reform

Proposals C and D will finally enable the people of Michigan to establish goals and priorities in education. And to finance them in a fair and equal fashion.

The result will be a better education for all our children.

Proposals C and D would free local boards from expending considerable energies in preparing periodically for millage elections.

Proposals C and D will ensure better educational opportunity for all children in the state, regardless of the child's place of residence.

Vote Yes on C and D

FRICK FROLICS — Mr. Frick, a comedian on ice, can be seen when the Shipstads and Johnson Ice Follies of 1973 plays at Olympia Stadium. The show runs Nov. 8-19.

Will 'unknown' be picked host of nightowl show?

NEW YORK — Tom Snyder is a mild-mannered anchorman for a great metropolitan television station. He used to keep a bullwhip handy to encourage the newsreading staff to greater feats of excellence.

The bullwhip has vanished and it may be a good thing. NBC says Snyder is the "leading contender" for a job as host of "Tomorrow," the new nightowl show the network plans to air next spring.

And it would be unseemly for his guests to feel that if they don't work out the bullwhip will.

Snyder is relatively unknown in the East. He is relatively known in the West as anchorman of the 6 p.m. news at KNBC-TV in Los Angeles. He's done the show there since August 1970.

He's been a major factor in the show's high ratings, which once were so low it was rumored divers called them in.

A native of Milwaukee, Wis., Snyder has been under NBC observation ever since he was hired away from the Philadelphia station on which he had toiled five years as an anchorman and morning talk show host.

His life has been about the same at KNBC, where in addition to his 6 p.m. chores he conducts a live interview on a 90-minute local show each Sunday.

He received a week's national exposure this summer when he filled in for Frank Blair on the news segment of NBC's "Today" show.

Word that he was under consideration for "Tomorrow" startled many in the KNBC newsroom and other outposts; they thought he ultimately was headed for "Today," "Tonight" having been ruled out.

NBC emphasizes that Snyder hasn't been signed for the new show, nor is it a certainty that he will get it. "He's the leading contender right now," a spokesman said.

They didn't think it would work

Classic pianists turn 'country'

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — It's no wonder Arthur Whittemore and Jack Lowe nearly fell off their piano benches when asked to play country music with a classical flair.

After all, Whittemore and Lowe are one of the world's most brilliant classical pianist teams — and combining their talents with country music wasn't exactly a first class idea as they saw it.

"Jack, right off the bat, said 'No way.' We knew of the Nashville Sound and thought there's no way we could do that with our nine-foot grand pianos," recalled Whittemore.

But the game musicians gave it a whirl anyway. And after three weeks of back-breaking 15-hour-a-day work they tested their new product on one of country music's finest artists.

The occasion was a country music awards dinner by SESAC, a nationwide song licensing firm.

"The response has just been unbelievable," said Whittemore, who's been playing professionally alongside Lowe for more than a quarter century.

Alice Prager, head of SESAC, conceived the idea. She asked Whittemore and Lowe to interrupt their concert tour briefly and try it out.

Actually, it wasn't the first time the famous piano duo, had taken a nonclassical form of music and added classical flavor to it. Their first attempt at such a venture was in 1946 with pop music. And they've been doing that ever since.

But they concede that country music presented a much different challenge.

"In the first place," said Whittemore, "the audience might think, 'Oh God, this is going to be something rickety.'"

"It was very difficult to work out, but not because the notes threw us," said Lowe.

"We have to try to convey the emotion that's in the country song and because most country songs are based primarily on lyrics it became a real challenge," Whittemore added.

At that moment, Lowe chimed in: "That's what we like about the country music and bluegrass we've heard. It's very direct and emotional."

Emotional was the precise description of the SESAC performance. After the two played "Honey," "Crystal Chandeliers," and "He Touched Me" the audience was visibly moved to tears.

So, not to keep everyone in a blue funk too long, Whittemore and Lowe quickly embarked on a version of "Jackson" that had the crowd snapping fingers and tapping feet.

"These are melodious tunes," said Lowe. "They're appealing and it doesn't matter who you are playing for."

"We'll continue doing this with the ones that are audience-tested and the ones we like," he continued.

Asked why he was hesitant in the beginning, Lowe explained:

"At first I said this is all off. I was embarrassed that we might put our stamp on something that one day we might be ashamed of. It was artistic pride."

"It was three weeks before we began to think this is all right," Whittemore interrupted.

"But once we applied our techniques then we were on easy street," said Lowe.

"Not easy street," Whittemore quickly added. "But at least we were on our way."

The idea behind the entire venture was to make one album for the Country Music Hall of Fame archives in Nashville.

"But what started out to be a noncommercial venture has turned into something that's going to be quite big," said Mrs. Prager.

She said she was not in a

If Belleville High head Coach Keith Emerson could find a way to get Senator Robert Griffin and State Rep. Edward Mahalak (38th District) to more of his football games, the Tigers would have it made.

With the two legislators and a host of other dignitaries on hand Friday night, Belleville snapped a 4-game losing streak to win their inaugural Suburban 8 Conference victory 12-0 at the expense of Dearborn High.

A shivering, but enthusiastic homecoming crowd heard Griffin and Mahalak pay tribute to Vietnam veteran Phillip Cole who, because of injuries sustained in the war, has become a quadriplegic.

Telegrams of tribute were read from President Nixon and Governor Milliken.

And after a spectacular fireworks, Belleville went to work on the Pioneers in a less spectacular way.

Belleville grabbed the opening kickoff and marched from their own 29-yard line to the Dearborn seven where they failed to find the path into the end zone. Quarterback Gary VanBuhler used half-back Stan Mars for eight of 12 plays in that inaugural series and after arriving at the seven the junior Tiger QB was caught behind the line of scrimmage and tossed for a loss, snuffing out the threat.

Five plays into the second quarter Belleville scored the go-ahead touchdown. It was set up on VanBuhler's pass to good use of their first three plays after the ensuing kickoff and decided to kick from their 38. Belleville got the ball at their own 12-yard line.

Mars ripped off 23-yards for a first down, but then an illegal motion penalty took the momentum away from the Tigers. They gave up the ball via a kick into the Pioneers end zone.

Belleville settled for a 6-0 halftime edge and almost saw that evaporate when Dearborn came back to string together a 15-play, 60-yard drive to score on John Hilton's around end sprint.

That TD was erased from the scoreboard however because of a clipping penalty.

With 4:19 left, the Pioneers tried to come back with a pass but Terry Pate picked it off at the 25-yard line. That catch Looking more like the Detroit Lions against Green Bay, Huron blew a 12-point first quarter lead and lost a 20-12 league decision to Flat Rock Friday night.

Coach Jim Russow's Chiefs didn't waste any time in putting six points on the scoreboard as they took the opening kickoff and marched for their initial touchdown in eight plays as Malloy Connelly lunged over from the one yard line. The TD capped a 60-yard sustained drive, featuring the running of halfbacks Jamie Hinojosa and Connelly.

After an exchange of punts the New Boston aggregation again maneuvered into scoring position against a pesky Flat Rock defense.

The Chiefs got on the scoreboard again in the wily minutes of the opening quarter when halfback Hinojosa took a pitchout from quarterback Mario Gracia and flung the ball to end Dana Kemp to score on a 67-yard pass-run play.

Flat Rock came back to slash the Chiefs' lead by six points on Rob Eppler's 12-yard sprint. They tied it up when Andy Lodgich dashed seven-yards off tackle to score midway in the third quarter and went ahead when the Rocks realized the point-after kick.

Jim Martin's one-yard plunge in the fourth quarter gave the winner's an insurance score.

Russow singled out Kemp for a job well-done at end, where Kemp had four receptions for 115 yards and as a defensive halfback. Also earning accolades was Bill Grover who had worked double duty and was in on 12 tackles.

Connelly had 16 rushes for 62 yards while Hinojosa picked up 33 yards in 12 tries and the Chiefs made seven out of 18 passes for 128 yards.

Huron will face another stubborn foe Friday when it travels to Airport Friday night.

Knife-wielding column was coverup job?

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

A letter from one of our readers first, then on with today's business:

Dear Mr. Mooradian,

"In a recent article of yours you mentioned that your chief photographer was threatened by a knife-wielding hood at one of the area high schools after a football game. We were sorry to hear about the incident.

"However, you failed to mention the high school where this incident took place. My question is, 'How come when there is a fight at Robichaud High School you are ready to plaster the incident on your pages, but when something derogatory happens at one of the other local schools you people cover it up.

"I know you are not a racist because I have read your columns over the past years and you always try to give fair coverage to both black and white athletes. We respect you for this, but we also feel that if you're going to continue to be an objective reporter you should not try to cover up any incidents which, of course, is unethical for your profession.

"And since there were pictures of the Wayne Memorial and Taylor Center game, and since that was really the only 'big game' of the week when the knife-searing incident took place may we conclude that the incident took place at Wayne Memorial High School?"

A concerned parent and a Sports Meridian fan.

Dear Fan,

You have concluded correctly — and I promise in my old age to be more precise. Thank you.

The Sports Meridian

And now down to business...

For the past two years Westland John Glenn and Wayne Memorial have been opening up their football season against one another. Some of the fans, however, hoped that the game would be shifted for the season finale.

The fans will get their wish in 1974.

Beginning in that year Wayne will again open the season against nonleague rival, Belleville, while John Glenn will find another yet unannounced opponent.

The two high schools then will bring down the curtains for their respective seasons against one another — and, if the first two encounters which launched their seasons are any thing like what fans will get in the future, then it will be worth waiting to see.

Some 5,000 area fans have attended each game which, incidentally, Wayne has won.

Do you remember, "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn," a movie of a couple of decades ago? Well, it appears that's not the only thing that grows in Brooklyn.

Basketball players, very tall ones at that, also appear to come from Brooklyn. Anyway that's the conclusion I drew when I got my first glance at a sapling of an athlete, Ronnie Bostick, who has enrolled at Romulus High School.

The 6-foot-9 senior will be playing for Coach Dave Court this year.

Ouch.

Simons is back in town

There'll be a familiar face in an unfamiliar uniform Saturday afternoon when the University of Michigan hosts the University of Minnesota in a Big 10 Conference football game at Ann Arbor. The kickoff is slated for 1:30 p.m.

Keith Simons, a former Belleville High football and wrestling great, will be the starting right defensive tackle for the Gophers.

Despite the fact that he's only a freshman, Simons has been a starter for the Gopher varsity throughout the 1972 season.

He moved into the starting lineup after two weeks of pre-season practice and held down the right tackle post as the young Gophers dropped their opener to Indiana, 28-23.

Minnesota, which has seven freshmen seeing regular service, then lost a trio of games to Big 8 powers Colorado, Nebraska, and Kansas.

The team then lost to Purdue before it gained its first win last Saturday—a 43-14 victory over Iowa.

Simons played well during the Gophers' first six games. He rates as the team's fifth leading tackler with 19 solos and 15 assists.

He was particularly impressive in the 28-24 loss to Kansas, as he sacked the quarterback three times for a total loss of 25 yards.

Cal Stoll, who is in his first year as Head Coach of the Gophers has called Simons "one of the hardest working football players I've ever seen."

"Keith has played as well as anyone on the team," said Stoll. "He has outstanding ability and there's no question in my mind that he'll be an All-American candidate by the time he's a junior."

Cougars' varsity defeats Westland

The Belleville Cougars broke even with the Westland Rockets in their Western Suburban Junior Football League games at Belleville High Sunday.

The freshmen teams played to a 6-6 tie. The Rockets then won the junior varsity contest, 6-0, and the Cougars triumphed in the varsity game, 24-6.

Mark Daroci scored a touchdown for the Cougar freshmen as they gained their tie. The result left the team with an 0-6-1 record.

Dana Thorp, Dan Smolen, Jeff Horton, and Fred Docktor played well for the Cougar j.v. team in its losing cause. The defeat gave the junior varsity a 1-5-1 record.

Quarterback Brian Ralls threw two touchdown passes as he led the Cougar varsity team to its sixth victory in seven games.

Westland jumped off to an early 6-0 lead, but the Cougars came right back as Ralls threw a 10-yard touchdown pass to Kevin Patterson.

Ralls then put the Belleville team into the lead, 8-6, as he ran for the two-point conversion.

Herbert Coats ran three yards for the second Cougar touchdown and the team upped its lead to 16-6 when Ralls passed to Patterson for the extra points.

Belleville closed out its scoring on a 15-yard pass from Ralls to Ken McCarty.

Larry Pingston ran for the conversion after the final TD. McCarty was the standout on a solid Cougar defensive unit.

The Cougar varsity is one game behind Northville, which closes out its season against a strong Ypsilanti team this weekend.

The Cougar teams will wind up their seasons this Sunday with a trio of games against the Romulus Flyers at Romulus High School.

The freshmen game will be played at 1 p.m., with the other two games following.

Belleville's at Ann Arbor

New Boston to host regional

With the dual meet season behind them and the regionals ahead, area cross country teams brace themselves for the stretch run this week.

New Boston Huron and Ann Arbor Pioneer will host all of the area Class A and B prep teams for the regional meets which will begin at 10 a.m. on Saturday.

Belleville, one of the defending champs, makes up part of the contingent that will compete at Pioneer High. Also included are Wayne Memorial, Westland John Glenn, Livonia Franklin, Churchill, Garden City East and West, Cherry Hill, Adrian, Ann Arbor Huron, Dearborn Heights Annapolis, Crestwood, Livonia Bentley, Stevenson, Plymouth and Ypsilanti.

Gathered for the New Boston's regional will be class B teams representing Carleton Airport, Dearborn Divine Child, Dearborn Heights Riverside, Robichaud, Detroit Holy Redeemer, Detroit Lutheran West, Ecorse, Flat Rock, Gibraltar Carlson, Grosse Ile, Monroe Catholic Central, Monroe Jefferson, River Rouge, Riverview, Saline, Southgate Aquinas and Ypsilanti Willow Run along with the host, Huron.

Belleville, which wrapped up the dual meet season with a 5-2 won-lost record after dropping its league finale, 22-39, to Livonia Bentley is having disciplinary problems.

Coach Bob Boudreau sidelined his No. 1 runner, Randy Block, and No. 6 man, Ed Conrad, last week and "that obviously cost us the meet," the Tiger mentor said.

Belleville placed second and fourth against Bentley thanks to the efforts of Chris Palnau (16:26) and John Cicotte (16:52), however the next man to cross the finish line was Mark Davis. He was tenth (17:34). Following Davis, in order, were: Dave Palnau (17:45), Dan Tishma (18:21), Charlie Grecha (18:37) and Tim O'Harris (19:26).

Picking up victories over Monroe Jefferson and River Rouge, Romulus harriers evened up their over-all record at 2-all-the best-won-lost cross country record for the high school since 1962.

John Trump, the consistent Romulus pacesetter, clipped 21 seconds off his record run to finish first with a 16:57 performance in helping the Eagles to a 21-34 victory over Monroe Jefferson.

Karnelly Hughes, who missed the Rouge meet, was third with a 17:15. Angelo Sandusky and Eldon Butler followed up with fourth (17:36) and fifth (17:50) places, respectively, then Don Richmond and Bill Franklin were eighth and 14th. Michael Gray was 15th.

Coach Al Wilkerson attributed the narrow 27-28 triumph over Rouge to the eighth place performance by Gray.

"Mike beat Rouge's fifth man and that gave up the decisive point," said Wilkerson. Gray was clocked at 18:10 while Dale Marcum of Rouge ran a 18:13.

Trump, Sandusky and Butler were bunched together in third, fourth and fifth places respectively, in this one with Trump's 16:53 effort the best of the Eagle runners. Gray was fifth, then came Richmond who had a 18:07 for seventh place.

River Rouge's Joe Makuch was clocked in the winning time of 16:04.

Huron also is having disciplinary problems according to Coach Keith Reed who went without his No. 3 man, Mark Mittelst. Despite Mittelst's absence from the lineup the Chiefs coasted past Huron Conference rival, Airport, 20-36.

It was New Boston's fifth league victory in seven starts and eighth win in 11 outings over-all.

A "dead heat" between Tim Bilbrey and Roger Waynick provided the Chiefs with a first place. The two runners were timed at 15:34, eclipsing Mike Graf's record - setting run of 15:51.

Melvin Sheats was third (15:44) and Tim Wood placed fifth (15:50) while Rick Cavazos crossed the finish line in 16:58.

Reed sees a five-team battle for the regional championship. Among the leading contenders he says are Monroe Catholic Central, Grosse Ile, Holy Redeemer, Riverside and Huron.

The "B" meet will be held at Willow Metro Park which is located south of New Boston on Willow Run near Waltz Rd.

The top two teams of each regional will advance to the state finals to be held a week from Saturday. The Class A state championship will be hosted by Redford Union at Cass Benton Park while the "B" finale is at Vicksburg, Michigan.

Simons

The Gophers had originally planned to use Simons at linebacker, the position he played at Belleville High, but injuries in the defensive line forced the coaches to move him to a defensive tackle post.

"We're playing Keith at defensive tackle because that's the spot where we need help the most this year," said Stoll. "He has so much talent that we felt we had to get him into the lineup."

Simons, who stands 6-4, is playing at 232 pounds for the Gophers. He weighed 260 during his football playing days at Belleville, where he was an All-Area griddier and wrestler.

The 1-5 Gophers will face a tough task when they take on Michigan, which is 6-0 and ranks among the top ten teams in the nation.

STUMBLING BLOCK — Romulus' Ron Kersey (41) finds the path ahead clouded with a host of River Rouge gridders who zero in on the Eagle ball carrier for the tackle. Romulus' offense failed to materialize against the Panthers as the Eagles dropped their second straight contest, 12-6. They'll be at home again Friday when Coach Bill Hardy's team clashes with Detroit Cass Tech.

Romulus loses

Romulus was willing to gamble to make up the 6-0 deficit. Hollis, McWhorter, Virgil Smith, Les Davis on consecutive plays moved the ball to their own 35-yard line after taking over at their own 17.

However, on a four down and inches to go, Smith went for the first down and failed to pick it up, giving the visitors the ball at the Eagle 35 yard line.

Steven Harrington plowed his way to the 19 on two carries, then Norwayne Williams got to the four-yard line where, on a first down and goal situation, Ed Abbott turned the drive around by pouncing on Steele's fumble.

With 1:06 left in the quarter, Smith began the long journey back. He tried a pass which was off target, then handed off to Hollis who picked up a first down at the 16-yard line as the third quarter ended. The Eagles got as far as their own 30-yard line when they decided to kick and the Panthers took over at their own 34-yard line after Smith's 55-yard punt.

With 10:12 remaining, Harrington moved to the 35, then Marvin Williams tossed Steele for a loss and after an incomplete pass, the Panthers kicked to Darden whose punt return gave the Eagles the ball on their own 45-yard line.

Smith began the march that tied up the score. McWhorter picked up a first down, then Hollis made it to the 38 and after an incomplete pass, Smith raced around right end and went the distance for the equalizer.

Gooden's attempt to give the Eagles the lead failed. The tie stood up until the last two minutes of the game when Clark bolted around right end to score with 27-seconds remaining in the game.

Tigers triumph

was also nullified, this time because of a roughing the passer penalty against Belleville.

Early in the fourth quarter Belleville threatened again. Mike Damsard, Belleville's senior halfback who saw duty in the Tigers' secondary during the first half, moved to the running back slot when Mars was injured in the second quarter.

Damsard rushed for five times to move the Tigers from their own 36-yard line to bring them to the Dearborn 22 where VanBuhler unsuccessfully went to the air three of four times.

Dearborn took over on its own 21 with 6:24 remaining and again had problems moving the ball. The Panthers gave up the ball on the Tiger 44-yard line with 3:50 left in the ball game.

Damsard and Cohen got to the Pioneer 21-yard line in six plays, then VanBuhler hooked up with Bill Kinsell on a scoring pass play for the final touchdown of the game.

Mars had 13 rushes for 85 yards while VanBuhler picked up 125 yards from his six of 13 passing game. Pate, who was in on 16 tackles — nine of which were unassisted, George Medley, the outside linebacker, Ron Bluhm and Meyers, stood out on defense.

Allen Park, the defending champ which has come alive the past two games, is next on the Tiger menu. The two teams will meet Friday night in Allen Park at 8 p.m.

Swimmers win ribbons

The Belleville Tiger Swim Club competed in the Bulldog Aquatic Swim Meet at Schoolcraft Community College last weekend.

Howard Renton won three ribbons in the boys 11 and 12 years age group. He finished third in the 50-yard freestyle in 30.3 seconds, fourth in the 50-yard backstroke in 36.4 seconds, and fifth in the 200-yard individual medley in 2:56.3.

Chris Renton was the winner of four ribbons in the boys 10 and under age group. He placed sixth in the 100-yard backstroke in 1:31.0, eighth in the 100-yard individual medley in 1:29.4, 12th in the 100-yard freestyle in 1:18.9, and 12th in the 50-yard freestyle in 34.4.

Jim Kause took three ribbons in the boys 10 and under age group. He placed fourth in the 50-yard freestyle in 33.2, fourth in the 100-yard individual medley in 1:28.9, and ninth in the 100-yard freestyle in 1:16.5.

Leroy Burcraff finished tenth in the boys 8 and under 25-yard breaststroke with a time of 23.5.

Rusty Bearance, Jim Kause, Chris Renton, and Howard Renton won heat ribbons.

HONORED BY SCOUT COUNCIL — Coveted Silver Beaver and Silver Fawn Awards - highest award in adult scout leadership - have been presented to three area residents at the annual meeting of the Huron-Chippewa Districts of the Detroit Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America. The awards were presented to (from left) Fred G.

Krupnow, 51, of 7201 Merriman Rd., Romulus; Mrs. Goldie Hoffman of 15970 Inkster Rd., Romulus and Calvin E. Light, 48, of 11025 Borgman, Belleville. The awards were presented to the trio in recognition of their many years in scouting and adult scout leadership.

Adult leaders get award

Three area residents, adult leaders in the scouting movement, have been presented with the Silver Beaver and Silver Fawn Awards - the highest awards for adult scout leadership.

The awards, which are presented in recognition of years of "dedicated" service in scouting were given to Calvin E. Light, 48, of 11025 Borgman, Belleville; Fred G. Krupnow, 51, of 7201 Merriman Rd., Romulus, and Mrs. Goldie Hoffman, 15970 Inkster Rd., Romulus.

The award presentation was held at the recent annual meeting of the Huron-Chippewa Districts of the Detroit Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America. The meeting was held at the First United Methodist Church, 417 Charles St. Belleville.

The two scout districts embrace the communities of Belleville, Romulus, Taylor and the townships of Huron, Brownstown, Sumpter and Van Buren.

Light, who is presently the scoutmaster of Troop 231, sponsored by The Trinity Episcopal Church of Belleville, has been in scouting for the last 19 years.

He has initiated and supervised many scouting programs and projects and has held various official positions during his years in the scout movement.

The six grown-up children including two daughters of the Lights have been in scouting. Light has only missed two weekend campouts in the past 19 years.

Krupnow, started in scouting 13 years ago with Cub Scouts. For the last 12 years he has been on the leaders training staff for the district.

Mrs. Hoffman, who received her den mother training from Krupnow as did Mrs. Calvin Light, started her adult scout leadership 12 years ago. She has two sons who became Eagle Scouts.

For the last ten years Mrs. Hoffman has been on the leader training staff of the district teaching den mothers and teaching at Pow Pow workshops.

Belleville resident joins volunteer service group

Editor's Note: The following article was submitted by Joseph White of 41762 N. Shore Dr., Belleville, a journalism student at Michigan State University.

By JOSEPH WHITE
Richard Allen Riggs, Belleville High School graduate was tired of living a sheltered life so he joined Vista (Volunteers in Service to America).

Richard, the 22-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Riggs, 110 S. Biggs, said he was tired of "small town Belleville." This, and his "desire to work with people and try to help them," are his reasons for joining Vista.

His first month with Vista will be spent with experienced Vista members. After completing his on-the-job training with the Vista team, he will be set up in his own community.

The purpose of Vista is to offer Americans the opportunity to take a personal stand against poverty. Vista members devote their skills to solve social and economic problems resulting from this all too prevalent condition, according to Riggs.

Pleasure Seekers take trips

Members of the Pleasure Seekers Senior Citizens Club participated in two recent trips under the direction of Mrs. Emma M. Britz, club president.

One of the trips was to Sarnia, Ontario where members toured Sunken Flower Gardens. The other trip was to Waldron, Ontario, where members were entertained by a country music program.

His project, called Community Development, is going to be a year's effort to "get out and see what problems people have and try to experience them," Richard said.

Richard spent four years at Michigan State University in East Lansing after graduating from Belleville High. He received his Bachelor of Arts in Social Science last spring.

During these years he was actively involved in community affairs because he was a member of Project City Hall, an organization combating community problems. Riggs sent his application to Vista during spring term of his senior year, and was accepted last July.

After Riggs' year in Vista, he plans to go to France to study the language. He also hopes to study history at the graduate school level.

His plans for a future are not set, but he said, "I just want to be happy."

St. Anthony scouts get awards

Boy Scout Troop 793, sponsored by St. Anthony Catholic Church in Belleville, has announced the recipients of merit and rank badges presented at the troop's recently held court of honor.

Scoutmaster Harold Innes distributed 80 merit and rank badges earned by troop members since last July.

Tim Branscomb became a Junior Assistant Scoutmaster and received a canoeing merit badge. New committeemen Doug Leidel and Jack Delaney received badges of office.

Mile swim awards went to Randy McNally, Paul Lauth and Dave Clay.

Second class rank was earned by John Delaney and Pete Winnie. First class went to Steve Schank, who also received an athletics merit badge.

Harold Innes received life rank, cooking, nature, lifesaving, insect life, citizenship in the home, dog care, personal fitness, canoeing, fishing and swimming merit badges.

Mark Innes received star rank, cooking, nature, lifesaving, personal fitness, fishing, dog care, swimming, canoeing and citizenship in the home badges.

Chris Leidel received conservation of natural resources, fishing, home repairs, athletics, lifesaving, swimming, canoeing, rowing, and coin collecting badges.

Scouts attend skating party

Cub Scout Pack 739, sponsored by the Merriman Elementary School in Romulus, said that 122 scouts and their families attended the pack's recent roller skating party.

Civil service contract awarded

The Michigan Department of Civil Service has awarded a contract to the Public Administration Service of Chicago to update and strengthen its job classification plan and simplify the pay structure for the state's 50,000 classified employees.

classification system to use "benchmark" classes and a point value system to determine job grades. (2.) Simplify the state's pay plan to reflect the revised classification system.

"Our objective is to clarify the operation of the classification system so it can be better understood by all those affected — managers, employees, and employee organizations — and at the same time provide better internal equity between classes," said state personnel director Sidney Singer. "The use of a consultant will assure the first outside critical review of our classification procedures since they were installed in 1938."

The project, which will cost $100,000, is financed by a federal grant of the Intergovernmental Personnel Act which is designed to improve public personnel practices in state and local government.

The completion date is January, 1974.

Mayor visits adult class

Students attending classes in the Romulus adult high school program were visited by several public officials during last week's class sessions.

Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael of Romulus discussed local politics with members of the political science class, instructed by Rod Hanna.

Assisting the mayor were Leonard Folmar, city clerk and deputy city clerk, Mrs. Deanna Lovenduski.

After formal discussion of the organization of city government, students were given the opportunity to question the officials regarding their positions on several local, state and national issues.

An additional highlight of the week's activities was an unexpected visit by Congressman William D. Ford of the 15th District. Rep. Ford addressed a gathering of 75 students on Thursday night, and urged them to participate in the approaching November election regardless of political affiliation.

Activities for the current week center around administration of the GED Test to students and interested individuals from the Romulus area. Successful completion of the test leads to High School Equivalency certification from the State of Michigan, and can be used by Romulus adult high school to award a full year's credit toward a regular high school diploma.

Registrations are available for the test which will be given Friday evening, from 6 to 10 p.m. and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

CARLA H. HAY and "CEST LA VIE"

Romulus brother, sister compete in horse show

Facing the thrill and excitement of national competition this week in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma are a Romulus brother and sister combination, Frederick M. Hay, 21, and Carla H. Hay, 16. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Hay, 14170 Huron River Dr., Romulus.

Frederick and Carla are competing in the Sixth Annual Arabian and half-Arabian U.S. National Championship Horse Show being held Oct. 23 through 29 at the State Fair Arena in Oklahoma City.

The show is approved by the International Arabian Horse Association.

Entered in this year's nationals are 800 horses from 44 states in the U.S. and three Provinces of Canada.

Carla and Fred know that competition will be the keenest ever, since each horse that qualified to compete in Oklahoma this week has already proven himself a champion in his state and regional Class A horse shows throughout the country.

For the third consecutive year Carla and her nine-year-old purebred grey Arabian gelding, "Cest La Vie," are competing in the national championship horse show.

In 1970, "Cest La Vie" was named to the Top Ten Arabian Geldings in the United States, placing third.

This week he will again be competing in the Purebred Gelding at Halter Class.

Carla also will be riding in two equitation classes — English Medal and the Western Medal class. She will compete in the Mounted Native Costume class which is one of her favorites and actually one of the most difficult.

Fred Hay, Jr. will be experiencing his first National competition with his purebred Arabian chestnut stallion, "Al Marah Kontiki."

Among the ribbons and trophies he has won include top honors at the Indiana All-Arabian Show and the Buckeye Sweepstakes in Columbus, Ohio. He and his horse are qualified for two national events: Western Pleasure, amateur owner to ride; and the Mounted Native Costume class.

Carla's best achievement this year was at the Empire State Arabian Horse Show in New York where she was named top junior rider of the 3-day show and which attracted more than 500 horses from many parts of the United States.

She made a clean sweep of the junior division, winning blue ribbons in both the English and Western division.

Her trophies included the Angle-K-Arabian Farm Challenge Trophy and the Nelson Chamberlain Memorial Trophy.

In his own right "Cest La

FREDERICK M. HAY and "AL MARAH KONTIKI"

"Cest La Vie" won the Gelding High Point trophy for earning the highest total number of points for the entire show, for the second consecutive year.

Both Fred, Jr. and Carla have grown up riding horses all of their lives. Both began riding in 4-H competition when they were ten years of age.

They ride and show for Zephyr Arabian Farm, a family farm owned by their parents, and travel the show circuit during the summer months.

Fred, Jr. is an honor student at Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, Mich., where he is in business administration and education. He is in his third year.

Carla is a junior at Romulus High School where she is an all "A" student. She is an accomplished pianist and is accompanist for the high school choir.

GI's get ed grants

A $5,000 grant by the National Bank of Detroit (NBD) Charitable Trust has reaped more than $100,000 in federal GI educational benefits for 75 students at Wayne County Community College (WCCC) since the first of the year.

In January, the NBD trust established a $5,000 loan fund at the college for entering freshmen who are Vietnam veterans.

A bank spokesman said reaction to the program has been good among veterans. He added that not only are they pleased to get loans but, by repaying them, they put money into circulation which helps other veterans.

The loan program helps veterans enroll in their first semester of classes and to buy books. Only after they are enrolled may they apply for GI benefits of up to $6,000 for 18 months of military service. The loans to students have

IMPROVE YOUR HOME

Family personality important

Many a homemaker is caught up in the quandary of what "they" say the fashion is in home decoration and what she personally prefers for herself and her family. "The answer should always be, 'Let your home express yourself and not the whim of any so-called fashion experts," because you're the one who has to live with it," advises decorating consultant for leading manufacturer of home accessories.

"You wouldn't wear clothes that didn't show you at your best, would you?" she asked. "Then why accept the dictates of home fashions if they don't express your family at its best?"

The thing to do is to learn what your family prefers and then satisfy this preference. Start your decorating scheme by analyzing the people in your family. What are they like? What are their interests, hobbies, and habits?

"If you like to sew, this should be reflected somewhere in the home," the consultant said. "If you have a boy who builds models, a husband who prizes his gun collection or a stereo rig, or a daughter who loves listening to music, these are tip-offs as to what you'll need to provide for."

Next, ask your family what each member personally prefers in the way of colors, textures and styles. If they're bashful or can't seem to express themselves on this point, help them with an analysis of your own.

For instance, if the man of the house is the rugged outdoor type, chances are he won't feel comfortable in a boudoir-styled living room with dainty furnishings and delicate fabrics.

A quiet personality may be out of place in a room filled with strong colors and bold furnishings, while a bold expressive character would not be compatible with meek pastels.

Your third step is to build your decorating plan around your way of life. Do you entertain often? Do you prefer small, intimate gatherings or large crowds? Is your living style casual or informal? Do you prefer sit-down dinners or buffet service?

How often are active youngsters or teen-agers on hand? How much time do you and your family spend in quiet pursuits, such as reading or enjoying music?

Once you've answered all these questions, you're ready to begin decorating, or re-decorating. Most people start with some furnishings already on hand, building around this, rather than discarding everything and starting over.

"You don't have to do everything at once; in fact, this is usually too expensive for the average family," the consultant said. "Proceed gradually, perhaps by painting the rooms, re-arranging furniture and purchasing wall accessories that create lively focal points."

Speaking of accessories, a room empty of them is as lifeless and unattractive as a person in a burlap sack.

"Plaques, mirrors, clocks, and sculpture are among the many accessories that not only give you a chance to express your personality, but also add visual interest to the room," the consultant said. "And because accessories are relatively the least expensive of home furnishings, each family member should be given a chance to select accessories that please him or her personally."

House, apartment decor reveals age of occupant

The way you decorate your house or apartment may reveal more than you realize about your age, marital status, self-assertion, and status-consciousness. That's because psychological drives have a strong influence on a person's choice of furnishings.

"Certain patterns tend to characterize the decorating preferences of unmarried career men and women, as opposed to those of young families, for instance," said Mary Ann Wills, interior design consultant for a manufacturer of home accessories.

For example, manufacturer's studies suggest that most young career people are drawn to designs that are stimulating in subject matter, bright in color and finish and contemporary style. This tendency usually is apparent in their choice of furniture, carpeting and draperies, as well as in art and accessories.

Newly-married couples in their 20s are like their single contemporaries in many ways. But with the young marrieds, a new factor emerges: a more pronounced desire to break away from parental influences.

"This is why contemporary furnishings are so often the choice of young husbands and wives coming from homes furnished in a traditional manner," she said.

The decorating approach takes a functional turn when children start arriving. Anything youngsters can get their hands on is chosen largely for its durability, and furniture may even be allowed to get a bit threadbare.

By age 30, the desire for self-expression and the need to impress others starts to fade.

The career woman, endeavoring to make a practical home for herself, becomes more interested in quality and tasteful design than in novelty. The older bachelor, meanwhile, may begin to indulge his personal whims and furnish his quarters in a manner others might call eccentric.

As they grow older, the couple with children tends to admit that parental decorating tastes weren't so bad, after all.

Storage locations are idle in house

Extra storage locations, in demand by most families, may be sitting idle around the house waiting to be discovered.

If there's a recessed area in living room or family room, it can be framed with 1-by-2-inch wood, shelves can be installed and the unit enclosed with folding louvered wood doors.

When there isn't room for a full size closet in an entry, addition of a tall, thin closet will provide stowaway space for card tables, ironing board, skis and similar items.

Often, there's just "no place" for laundry equipment, but a sharp look may find space in the master bedroom for a combination or stacked washer and dryer.

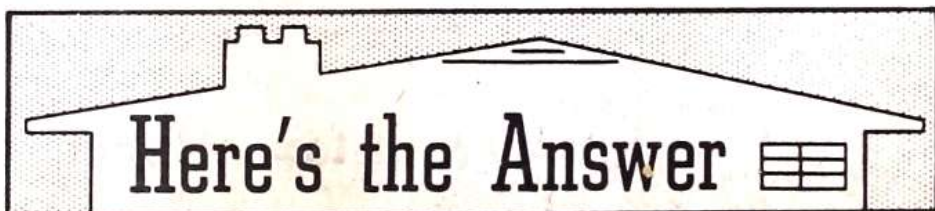

Hidden behind louvered doors, the laundry will blend into the decor. If it's been moved from garage or basement, new storage will become available there.

Recycle old house

In these days of escalating prices, young families are discovering good buys by "recycling" older homes, saving added dollars by doing much of the remodeling themselves.

New walls of wood board paneling are the answer to cracked, out-of-plumb plastered walls. Furring strips for paneling can be attached directly over the old walls.

Older homes often have basements and attics with space for an extra bedroom or family room. Decks and benches of Douglas fir cover cracked concrete patios and provide outdoor living areas.

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG

Q.—We had vinyl tiles put down on our kitchen floor a few years ago. They are still in good condition and still solidly attached to the floor, but my wife is changing the color scheme and wants to replace them with tiles of a different color. I am thinking about using vinyl asbestos tiles. It seems like a terrific job to take up the old tiles. Can I put them down over the old tiles?

A.—Yes. But it is important that any wax on the floor be thoroughly removed, otherwise the adhesive will not hold properly. An added step that will insure secure gripping power is to sandpaper the old tiles a bit to roughen the surfaces, but I have seen excellent installations where this step was not taken. In laying the new tiles, be sure that the joints do not fall over the seams of the old tiles.

Q.—I used varnish remover on an old table top, but when I got finished, only about half the old finish had disappeared. Is it safe to go over it again with varnish remover?

A.—Yes. In fact, it's necessary. Apply the remover, wait about 20 minutes, then try scraping a small area of the table top. If the finish doesn't come off easily, apply another coat atop the first one, wait another 20 minutes, then do the scraping. Where there are several coats of old varnish, several applications may be required.

Rotary governor talks about global growth

T. Hollister Mabley of Bloomfield Hills, governor of Rotary District 640 — embracing southeastern Michigan communities, addressed the New Boston Rotary Club on his official visit to the club last Tuesday night.

The New Boston Rotary Club is one of the 44 Rotary Clubs in the district.

4-H group will elect directors

The annual meeting of the Wayne County 4-H Fair Association, Inc., will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 2 at the Wayne County 4-H Fairgrounds, 10871 Quirk Rd., Belleville.

Directors will be elected to the 4-H Board.

If a registered member is unable to attend this meeting, contact Mrs. Rosemary Fischer, 13135 W. Wayne Rd., Romulus, for an absentee ballot.

The nominees for office of director are: Bart Berg, Wilford Bunyea, Frank Day, James Hartford and John Ireland, all up for re-election.

The new candidates are Robert Simons, Jr., Darryl Robson, Wayne Pankey, Paul Ostrowski, Don Korte, Chris Fischer, Robert E. Cook, George Carpenter and Edsel Beaty. All reside in the Belleville, Romulus, Canton and Plymouth.

Speaking of the global growth of Rotary, an international men's service organization, Hollister said:

"Rotary is the pioneer of the service clubs and today numbers more than 15,000 clubs with a combined membership of more than 750,000 business and professional men. Spread throughout 149 countries, Rotary Clubs conduct activities to improve their communities, aid youth, elevate business standards, and further international friendships and understanding."

The district governor also conferred with Luke Wegienka, local Rotary Club president, and John Bardoni, club secretary, on club administration and plans for future activities.

During his visit, the Rotary official was given information on some of the local Rotary Club activities, including Easter Seal Fund raising, support of local Boy Scouts, aid to the handicapped and development of occupational information.

Concerning activities in their Rotary district, Hollister outlined the role of District 640 has played toward world understanding and peace.

The Group Exchange Program has just had five young men from Rotary District 640 spend six weeks in Japan, during which time they lived in the homes of Japanese Rotarians.

The other half of this program will bring five young Japanese to this district next spring, and each local club will have some opportunity to participate in hosting the Japanese team, thus helping to bridge the "so-called culture gap."

Vietnam veterans use educational benefits

Veterans training under the Vietnam G.I. Bill are expected to pass the two million mark in 1972, the Veterans Administration said Monday.

The estimate is based on a statistical report that revealed that 1.9 million veterans and servicemen used G.I. Bill education benefits during fiscal year 1972, an 18 per cent gain over the previous year.

Administrator of Veterans affairs Donald E. Johnson said 3.4 million trainees had used their benefits by the end of August.

"During the first six years of the bill, the number of trainees had exceeded the 13 year total for the Korean G.I. Bill by almost a million," Johnson said.

During 12 years of the World War II G.I. Bill, 7.8 million of the 15.3 million World War II veterans, or 45.3 per cent, received some form of training.

About 13.8 per cent attended college compared to 21.9 per cent among Vietnam veterans and 20.1 per cent for Korean veterans.

These additional enrollment statistics were revealed in the VA report:

—Veterans in colleges and universities rose by 16 per cent over the previous year — from 917,000 to 1.06 million.

—Below college level enrollment rose by 22 per cent from 522,000 to 638,000.

—On-the-job training, through which most trainees are preparing for trade and industrial occupations, rose by 11 per cent from 146,000 to 162,000.

—Vocational rehabilitation training for service disabled veterans rose four per cent from 30,500 to 31,700.

—Dependent's educational assistance — for wives, widows and children of certain veterans and servicemen — rose by almost nine per cent from 8,800 to 9,600 for wives (nine per cent) and from 50,700 to 55,000 for children (8.4 per cent.)

Eligibility for G.I. Educational Assistance extends to veterans with 180 days active military service provided any part of it was served after Jan. 31, 1955.

Task force sends rep to view Soviet shipping

Soviet Union ice technology developed for late winter shipping may soon be applied to the Great Lakes.

The Season Extension Task Force of the Michigan Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the attendance of Ernest W. Marshall, of the University of Michigan Sea Grant Program, to the International Ice Symposium in Leningrad, U.S.S.R.

"This is part of continuing effort to assist in bringing the economic benefit of 12-month navigation of the Great Lakes region," said task force chairman John P. McGoff. "Year-round shipping of the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence Seaway would mean over $172,000,000 in new export trade for the Great Lakes region." The multiplier effect of this new export trade on the economy would mean over 41,000 new jobs for the citizens of the Great Lakes states."

The Season Extension effort began more than two years ago when McGoff and members of the task force visited Finland to observe the methods the Finns used to ship year-round. The seeds planted by that visit have resulted in the 17.5 million federal appropriation for a demonstration project to show the economic and technical feasibility of year-round shipping in the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence Seaway.

Marshall's visit to the Soviet Union will provide a first hand look at the results of many years of operating vessels in ice covered, constricted areas such as rivers and harbors. In addition to the Soviet vessel operations, their efforts to safeguard shorelines during the winter season could prove valuable if introduced in the Great Lakes.

"We also hope to gather information on the successful efforts in the Baltic to provide safe, reliable transportation for off-shore island residents, like those on Sugar Island, during late season shipping operations," McGoff said.

According to Harry R. Hall, president of the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce, and John M. Armstrong, director of the University of Michigan Sea Grant Program, Marshall's trip will help the state of Michigan better utilize and understand its vast ice resources.

They noted that Marshall's trip is an example of one of the goals in the Michigan Sea Grant program - that of linking Michigan's business and industry with the university-technical community.

After the ice symposium Marshall will travel to Moscow, Novosibirsk and Irkutsk.

Area Civil Air Patrol units participate in trip

Seven senior members and 16 cadets from local Civil Air Patrol (CAP) units participated in an all-day field training exercise.

The exercise recently held in the area to the east and south of Detroit Metro Airport, made use of the open fields and wooded areas there.

Seniors participating included Major Alan R. Creighton of Ypsilanti, Chief Warrant Officer Ray Shovoly of Southgate, Captain Richard Karr of Inkster, Chief Warrant Officer Jack Stubbs from Wyandotte, Airman First Class James Creith of Belleville, and First Lieutenants George Cantrell, Lillian Cantrell, and Mrs. Shirley Martin, all of Taylor.

Among the cadets were Cadet Technical Sergeant Edward Lanzi and Cadet Airman Michael Kieltyka.

both of Westland; Cadet Sergeant Anita Jones from Belleville; Cadet recruit Robert Durham from Inkster; Cadet Airman Frank Howell of Westland; Cadet First Class Kathi Chesney from Flat Rock; Cadet Airman Steven Bowman of Rockwood.

Cadet Second Lieutenant Larry Knaebel, Cadet Staff Sergeant Daniel Pohl, Cadet recruit Darrel Brown, Cadet Staff Sergeant Alfred Pheley and Cadet Technical Sergeant Glenn White, all from Garden City.

Cadet Airmen First Class Nancy and Anita DeZomits from Romulus; Cadet Warrant Officer Michael Daniel of Taylor, and Cadet Master Sergeant David Symonow of Plymouth.

These CAP members came from the three CAP Squadrons which serve the local area, the Wayne-Romulus Cadet Squadron, the Cherry Hill Cadet Squadron and the Metropolitan Emergency Services Squadron — as well as their parent unit, the Detroit Metropolitan Group.

The exercise served partly to train CAP cadets in CAP emergency search and rescue operations, and partly as a test of their ability to carry out such operations.

Two bases, a "boss base" at the home of one of the CAP members, and a "satellite base" four miles away in the field, were set up and operated by the cadets.

Throughout the day a mobile control station radioed various messages to the bases, reporting emergency situations of one sort or another. Radio operations at both bases were handled by the cadets, supervised by seniors.

The overall mission was organized around the search for an Air Force plane which had supposedly crashed in the neighborhood the night before, carrying three passengers.

Persons interested in learning more about CAP radio communications should contact Captain Edward DeZomits at 11364 Inkster Rd., Romulus.

HALLOWEEN TIPS — Follow the three suggestions on Automobile Club of Michigan's Halloween traffic signal and help make Tuesday, Oct. 31, a safe and happy day for little "trick-or-treaters." That's the message from this pretty witch and her happy clown helper who urge parents to teach youngsters to cross at corners, lift mask so as not to obscure vision and look both ways before crossing the street.

Area CAP squadron gets new commander

Major Alan R. Creighton of Ypsilanti, has been appointed to command the Detroit Metropolitan Group of the Civil Air Patrol (CAP).

This unit covers the western half of Wayne County, and includes three subordinate squadrons — the Wayne-Romulus Cadet Squadron, the Cherry Hill Cadet Squadron and the Metropolitan Emergency Services Squadron. The last is an all senior radio communications squadron based in the Romulus area.

Major Creighton replaces Captain Edward Williams, who has rotated to the position of Group Deputy Commander under Major Creighton.

Replacing Major Creighton in command of the Wayne-Romulus Cadet Squadron is Chief Warrant Officer Frank R. Kudva Jr., of 37250 Menton in Romulus.

Major Creighton joined CAP in 1956 as a cadet, and became a senior (adult member) in 1958. Since that time he held various staff positions in Newaygo County, Grand Rapids, Lansing, and transferred to the Detroit Metro Group in 1965 when he accepted a teaching position at Eastern Michigan University.

Between 1965 and 1968 he served as the groups' training officer, organizing various training missions for the unit. In 1968 he accepted command of the Wayne-Romulus Cadet Squadron, a position he held until this year.

Major Creighton, in addition to his CAP work, is a full time teacher and holds four college degrees, one from Michigan State University and three from the University of Michigan.

The state chairman will be presenting workshops in mental health by Sylvia Stears of Oxford and youth programs by Marlene Pawelak of Romulus.

In addition, he is a member of MENSA, a social organization made up of individuals whose intelligence ranks in the top two per cent of the population.

His past accomplishments include providing more than a dozen well-planned week-end bivouacs for the group, and organizing three long-range field trips to Cape Kennedy and Washington D.C. for CAP cadets.

He has served as an escort officer for cadets attending the Federal Aviation Agency Course in Oklahoma City, the Space Age Orientation in Illinois, and the National Cadet Leadership School in Reno, Nev. In addition to his other awards, he holds the Communicators' Badge and wears the aviation rating of observer.

The major also is a professional artist, whose paintings are on display at the Raven Gallery in Southfield.

ROMULUS COMMUNITY SCHOOLS FINANCIAL REPORT, 1971-1972

Board of Education, Romulus Community Schools, Romulus, Michigan

To the Board of Education:

We have examined the accompanying balance sheets of the various funds of Romulus Community Schools at June 30, 1972, and related statements of revenue and expenditures and supplemental information for the fiscal year then ended. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly the financial position of the Romulus Community Schools at June 30, 1972, and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in conformity with generally accepted school accounting principles applied on a consistent basis.

Respectfully submitted,

Attendance figures during the 1971-72 fiscal show 6,336 fulltime resident pupils taught by 286 fulltime classroom teachers. The ratio of pupils to fulltime certified teachers is 22 to 1. Teacher salaries ranged from a minimum of $8,500 to a maximum of $16,700; a total of $3,464,740 for salaries of classroom teachers. The foregoing report does not include the balance due on school bus loans totaling $140,926.64 conforming to the provisions of the revised school accounting manual. The report does show a reduction in the deficit position of the school district of $86,884.15. During the past fiscal, the renewal of ten (10) mills for operation for five (5) years was approved by the electorate. The 1972 tax levy of 30.50 mills will be spread equally between summer and winter tax. Student housing will be an item of much concern during the 1972-73 fiscal with the total number of students increasing to the point where all available classrooms will be in use, necessitating another bond issue election.

For school system

Bus firm names manager

Robert Rudat, 32, of New York was appointed as the new resident manager of the Michigan Bus Service Inc., operators of the Van Buren

School District's school bus transportation system. John Nolan, vice president of the National School Bus Service, a Chicago-based firm, made the announcement.

The local firm, which took over the complete operation of the school district's transportation system on July 10, is a subsidiary of the National School Bus Service.

Rudat will replace George Rhodes, 56, who was the project officer at Belleville since mid-July. Rhodes will return to Rochester to become manager of one of the largest Golden Arrow Line terminals of the parent firm.

Rudat comes to Belleville with an extension background in bus maintenance and operation. He headed a 70-bus fleet for Golden Arrow Line previous to his appointment in Belleville.

He and his wife, Pat, are the parents of six children ranging in age from two to 13.

Children must confine visits to neighborhood

Van Buren Township Supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer has officially designated Halloween which falls on Oct. 31 as "trick-or-treat" day for the children in Van Buren Township.

Children should confine their "trick-or-treat" visits to homes of persons they know in their immediate neighborhoods, he said.

He also suggested parents accompany children, children make their visits during the afternoon and householders offer wrapper or sealed treats only.

"Children are entitled to the innocent fun and festivity associated with the observance of the Halloween 'trick-or-treat' custom," Gollwitzer said.

To insure a safe and enjoyable "trick-or-treat" outing, the supervisor offers these additional tips to youngsters:

- (1) Bring your "treats" home first to be inspected before tasting them.
- (2) Wear light-colored costumes decorated with reflective tape and avoid Halloween masks for better visibility.
- (3) Observe the basic pedestrian safety rules of the National Safety Council.
- (4) Use flashlights after dark.
- (5) If you carry a pumpkin, light it with a flashlight, not a candle.
- (6) Call only at homes that have exterior or porch lights on.

Doctor attends meet

Dr. S. Phillip Grillo, M.D., 265 Main St., Belleville, took a few days away from his practice to attend a recent four-day meeting of the American Academy of Family Physicians in New York City.

Dr. Grillo, a member of the academy, heard nationally recognized medical speakers discuss up-to-the-minute health care topics; attended clinical seminars; and visited scientific exhibits designed to provide specific knowledge in a variety of clinical areas.

More than 5,000 doctors were in attendance at the four-day meet.

Dr. Grillo, who resides at 45161 Harmony Lane, Belleville, also has been staff member at the Beyer Memorial Hospital, Ypsilanti for more than 25 years.

Catholic Youth Organization educates teens on alcohol

In the first six months of 1972, alcohol-related traffic accidents among 18 to 20 year-olds rose 144 per cent and fatalities almost doubled, according to the Catholic Youth Organization (C.Y.O.).

Does this mean that the new law which permits 18 year-olds to drink alcoholic beverages is causing an increase in high-way accidents?

Nobody knows but it is plain that the drinking driver confronts society with a stern challenge. The CYO Youth Council on Alcohol, under the direction of Ray Hillen, is trying to do something about it.

"Young people today are willing to take a long, honest look at the effects of drinking and driving," Hillen said. "They are sensitive to the problem. They don't try to brush it under the rug. I feel the CYO Youth Council is doing an excellent job of pointing out to peers the menace of the drinking driver."

This is part of the CYO Youth Council's total effort to educate peers to reject the myths which surround the use of alcohol and to change prevailing attitudes toward alcoholism.

Youth council members are cooperating with traffic safety departments in warning against the dangers of drinking and driving as part of the campaign for a sane, balanced view of alcohol and alcoholism.

In the meantime, the work of enlarging the youth council is moving ahead steadily. For further information call 963-7172.
